Goldwater Silent On Newest Attack

By JACK BEL L
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee fattened its already bulging files on Sen. Barry Goldwater today with some of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's blasts at the Arizona Republican.

The Goldwater camp remained silent about the New York governor's newest attack on his potential rival for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Special File

But Samuel Brightman, publicity director for the Democratic National Committee, reported cheerfully that Rockefeller's indictment of Goldwater's views in a speech before the Associated Press Managing Editors Association in Miami Beach, Fla., was being filed under "what Republicans say about Republicans."

"We have been Goldwater fans for quite a spell," Brightman said in an interview. "We have reams and reams of his quotes all ready for anything that might happen. We even send out some questions now and then that Republicans who are not as conservative as he is can put to him."

Not Closed on Nixon

Brightman volunteered that the national committee didn't close its files on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon after he lost the 1960 presidential election.

"We are not among those who regard Nixon as washed up, so far as the Republicans are concerned," Brightman said.

He added that there are files on Rockefeller, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and others who might figure in the presidential contest.

Nixon told reporters in New York City Wednesday that he is not angling for the nomination. He said his best role is to "unite the party after the blood letting."

Getting Bloody Now

"It's getting pretty bloody right now," he added.

Goldwater's supporters who scanned Rockefeller's attack on the senator agreed privately that the New Yorker was getting tougher by the speech. But they were counseling the senator to attack only Democrats.

Rockefeller asked his listeners to "imagine the prospect of the Republican party and its principles, as enunciated from Abraham Lincoln to Dwight D. Eisenhower, being presented to the American people next year in terms of a candidate and a platform which would include the advocacy of such propositions, for instance, in the foreign field as having the United States withdraw from the United Nations, giving military field commanders discretion to use nuclear weapons, abruptly cutting off all foreign aid?" he continued:

"And on the home front, rolling back social gains, selling

Double-Cross Ambush

North Korea Accused Of Trapping Unarmed

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The U.N. command accused Communist North Korea today of a double-cross ambush of eight unarmed U.S. and South Korean soldiers in the demilitarized zone. One American was wounded and a South Korean captain was presumed dead.

The U.N. command said the Communists trapped the tiny unit and fired about 1,000 rounds in about four hours Wednesday afternoon. Seven men escaped after darkness fell.

Told in Advance

North Korea was advised in advance that the two Americans and six South Koreans were going into the zone to check border markings, a U.N. spokesman said, and each man wore a yellow arm band identifying him as being on "authorized business."

The South Korean, seriously wounded, was left behind when the rest of the group plunged into an icy river and hid beneath its bank until dark.

The wounded American, an enlisted man, was shot in the thigh but got away. His identity was withheld until his family was notified.

The other American, Lt. Col. Alphus R. Clark, 43, of Leavenworth, Kan., also was hospitalized, suffering from shock and exposure. He was the leader of the group.

60 Miles From Seoul

The shooting occurred about 60 miles northeast of Seoul, on the north bank of a branch of the Han River.

Clark's mission was to check border markings that divide the zone into North and South Korean halves. The zone, about 3,000 yards wide, was established across the Korean Peninsula by the 1953 armistice to keep the Communist and U.N. armies apart.

A U.N. spokesman gave this account of the incident:

The inspection team had beeen in the zone about two hours when the Communists, hidden in thick underbrush and grass, opened fire from about 150 yards away.

Clark and his men ran for the river, seeking cover. The South Korean captain couldn't make it.

Communist automatic weapons kept up the fire. A small boat started across the river to pick up the party as scheduled but the Reds fired at that, too. The boat crew abandoned it.

When darkness fell, the boat was recovered and the small party tumbled in and crossed the river to the U.N. lines. They were numbed by the cold and exhausted.

To Lodge Strong Protest

The U.N. command was expected to call a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission to lodge a strong protest.

A U.N. spokesman said that the attack was unprovoked. The number of men permitted in the demilitarized zone at one time is limited by the armistice agreement, which also bans automatic weapons such as those the U.N. said were fired at Clark's group.

Ulster Will Make Water Survey for Spring Lake Area

The firm of J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates of Rensselaer has been engaged by the town board of the Town of Ulster to make a survey for water in the Spring Lake area.

Early in October the town board passed a resolution, subject to a permissive referendum, fixing the sum of $3,500 for a survey for water in that section of the town. Town law requires that a 30 day waiting period be had so that any objections to such expenditure can be made. No objection was made and since the 30-day period has passed, the board at its meeting Wednesday evening adopted a resolution engaging the Rensselaer firm as consulting engineers for the project. They will proceed with the study immediately.

For Recreation Program

The town board authorized Supervisor Banyo to complete application forms to the Division for Youth, New York State Executive Department, on the Town of Ulster's recreation program for 1964, and to include a request for maximum reimbursemtnt of $1,000.

A deed was received from the Kingston School District, Consolidated, to the Town of Ulster for a parcel of property along Morton Boulevard for town use. The projected future use is for a town hall adjoining a town library.

An advance estimate of operation and maintenance costs of sewage treatment works, under section 1263-C of the Public Health Law were received by the board from Harry Edinger, P.E., of the county health department. This will be filed by the town of Ulster on behalf of the Whittier Sewer District, giving an estimate of operation for the year 1964 of a total of $7,600. A resolution was adopted authorizing Supervisor Banyo to file such application and if any state

More Say For Latins Helps Plan

Smoother Sailing For Alliance Work

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A U.S.-backed proposal to give Latin Americans greater responsibility in directing the Alliance for Progress apparently faced smoother sailing today after general rejection of a Brazilian plan to bring in as many European contributors as possible, even the Commmunist bloc.

Diplomats said the Brazilian proposal won only Bolivia's support from among the 20 nations attending the Inter - American Economic and Social Council session.

Intended as Torpedo

The Brazilian proposal apparently was intended to torpedo the U.S.-backed plan to create a seven - nation coordinating committee to pass on aid projects and give Latin Americans more influence in over-all control of the multibillion - dollar economic and social development program.

The Brazilians reportedly had still another maneuver in reserve. Informants said Brazil has indicated that if the seven-nation committee is approved, it will insist that the action be ratified by the congress of each member nation. This could delay formation of the committee for several years.

Brazil's Argument

The Brazilians argued that the seven - nation committee would only impede the aid program by increasing red tape. But many delegates agreed that Brazil's opposition was based on the feeling that she would be reduced to the level of other nations applying for aid funds and that a mostly Latin-American committee would be less sensitive to political considerations than the United States has been.

U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, the head of the American delegation, placed U.S. support firmly behind the proposed committee. He said if the program to accelerate Latin-America's economic growth is lagging, it is largely Latin America's fault.

Harriman said that since the Alliance for Progress was launched 27 months ago, the United States has poured out $2.3 billion.

Will Ask County Board for Action On Area Airport

A resolution is expected to come before the board of supervisors tonight asking for the appointment of a five-man Airport Committee to study the establishment of an airport in this area. The resolution was filed by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner.

Names have been submitted from all towns of the county for appointemnt to an Ulster County Planning Board. Chairman Clarence C. Raichle of the committee is expected to announce the names, which must be approved by the board.

In annual session, the board will also act on several routine matters at the meeting scheduled for 8 o'clock at the court house.

No Surprise on Rights Action

Blast at Halleck Not To Last on Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leading Southern senator's recent blast at House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck isn't likely to have a lasting effect on the unofficial House coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats.

When Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., assailed Halleck for publicly supporting the Kennedy administration's modified civil rights bill, it came as no great surprise.

While Halleck himself couldn't comment, close associates said he discounted it as a political speech designed to strengthen Russell's position in Georgia. The speech was made in Dublin, Ga.

How They Stand

Russell for years has headed the anticivil rights forces in the Senate, while Halleck has played a leading procivil rights role in the House.

The Indianian has teamed in the House with Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the House Rules Committee, many times to block or slow economic legislation proposed by Democratic administrations.

But Smith's Southern contingent never has received and never has expected the support of Halleck's forces when civil rights legislation was involved.

In the 1957 House civil rights fight, which the Southerners lost, 168 Republicans joined with 118 Democrats on the winning side. Only 19 Republicans lined up with the opposition.

Three years later, when another civil rights bill was passed, 132 Republicans supported the legislation and only 15 opposed it.

The fact that the Republicans deserted Southern Democrats on civil rights legislation in 1957 and 1960 did not have any apparent effect on the conservative coalition's unity on other matters.

In fact, the coalition grew so potent that the House enlarged Smith's Rules Committee in 1961 in an attempt to break the conservatives' domination of that committee. But somehow some of President Kennedy's major domestic proposals haven't come to a vote in the House, mainly because of leadership fears that the coalition would slap them down.

Halleck's support of the 1963 civil rights bill has been viewed by many as a political master stroke. As House leader of the party of Abraham Lincoln, Halleck hardly could have opposed the legislation.

Lewis Innocent In Miller Attack, Robbery Last May

A jury in County Court Wednesday afternoon deliberated less than half an hour before returning a "not guilty" verdict in the Gary Lewis robbery and assault action. Lewis along with John Wesley Frazier, no permanent home; Gilbert Henderson of 43 Abruyn Street, and Vickie Mae Girard of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, had been indicted for robbery, first degree; second degree assault and petit larceny for the alleged attack on Russell Leroy Miller, Stone Ridge, last May.

It was charged the four had picked up Miller in a downtown area and took him to a spot near the DeWitt Mills Road where he charged he had been assaulted and robbed. Miller said at the time he understood they were going to New Jersey and he rode along.

Two Pleaded Guilty

Vickie Mae Girard was given 159 days in jail on a plea some time ago. Henderson, who went to trial along with Lewis, later entered a plea of guilty to assault third degree and is awaiting sentence. On the trial Henderson admitted he was the one who struck Miller.

At the close of the prosecution's case a motion to dismiss the robbery charge, as well as assault second degree charge against Lewis was made by Joseph Avis, defendant's counsel, on the grounds, The People had failed to establish that charge. Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca consented to the

May Hurt Future, Reds Told

Kennedy Assails Russian Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy warned the Soviet Union today that the arrest of Frederick C. Barghoorn of Yale as an alleged spy could have "a most serious effect" on future U.S.-Russian cultural relations.

Makes Flat Denial

Flatly denying that Barghoorn, a distinguished political scientist, was spying, Kennedy spoke out strongly at a news conference.

Shortly before the conference, the United States had abruptly canceled negotiations with Moscow for a new cultural exchange agreement.

"Prof. Barghoorn was not on an intelligence mission of any kind," the President emphasized.

The United States, the chief executive asserted, is deeply concerned not only at the arrest of Barghoorn, but at the fact that U.S. officials are kept in ignorance for days about the fact of his seizure.

Six Protests Lodged

Foy D. Kohler, American ambassador, and other U.S. diplomats have lodged six protests with Russia in the last 38 hours, Kennedy pointed out.

Barghoorn, the President asserted, had played a most helpful and constructive role in the exchange of students with the Soviets and in other cultural affairs.

His arrest was completely unjustified, Kennedy added, and "his early release is essential if these cultural programs are to continue."

Kohler was asked Wednesday night to give his opinion on whether a delegation, scheduled to leave for Moscow today to discuss the cultural agreement should postpone the trip.

Barghoorn, a political scientist and head of Yale University's Department of Soviet Studies, is a member of the committee which handles the placing of Soviet students who come to the United States under the exchange agreement and screning American students going to the Soviet Union.

Was Traveling on Visa

The Soviet Foreign Ministry notified the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Tuesday that Barghoorn, 52, had been arrested several days earlier on spy charges. The professor, author of several books critical of Russia, had been traveling on a 30-day tourist visa.

Though no decision on the State University Needs 40 PC Hike Next Fiscal Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State University says it will need $152.7 million to operate university units in the next fiscal year—a 40 per cent increase over the current spending level.

The university made public its budget request Wednesday, explaining that it required the additional money "to provide for operation of vastly expanded campuses and accommodate rapidly increasing enrollments."

Its action emphasized further the developing fiscal plight of Gov. Rockefeller, who is expected to have a difficult time balancing his next state budget.

Earlier, the State Education Department revealed that it would request a $75-million increase in its budget for fiscal 1964-65. This would raise its total expenditures, including state aid for education, to $1.1 billion.

The over - all state budget, which now stands at $2.8 billion, was balanced in large measure by a series of stop-gap devices. Built-in increases in state spending programs are expected to push the new budget to $3 billion or beyond.

The State University said it had requested $140 million for the 30 colleges it operates directly and $12.7 million for the 28 community colleges under its jurisdiction.

The state contributes a third of the operating costs of community colleges, which are run by local sponsors. Students and local governments pay the rest.

The university is undertaking a $1-billion expansion program

Teacher Injured, Other Driver Is Facing DD Charge

A Rondout Valley Central School District teacher was injured and a New Paltz man was charged with drunken driving as a result of a two-car collision Wednesday at 4:45 p. m. on Route 209 about a half-mile south of Route 213 intersection, Town of Marbletown.

State Police at Ellenville said Mrs. L. Eva Barringer, 38, of Tillson, a second grade teacher at Marbletown elementary school suffered multiple lacerations and abrasions and possible cerebral concussions. She was taken to Kingston Hospital by Moylan's Ambulance Service, Rosendale. X-rays were taken to determine whether she suffered any fractures. Her condition at noon was listed as satisfactory.

Troopers reported Edward Greene, 58, of New Paltz, driver of the other car involved in the crash was charged with drunken driving. He pleaded innocent before Justice of the Peace Harry Scarpati, Town of Marbletown and was released pending a trial.

Mrs. Barringer had attended a staff meeting of Rondout Valley Central School and was on her way home when the collision occurred, according to Edward T. Green, superintendent of RVCS District.

Superintendent Green said he was told by witnesses that Mrs. Barringer was driving north on Route 209 and the other car was proceeding south when the vehicles collided. Mrs. Barringer was ejected from her car.

Charles Strong, administrative assistant in the RVCS District, according to Superintendent Green was driving his car immediately ahead of the Bar-

Signs of Frustration

Possibility Exists Nehru May Quit Rule

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — As he marks his 74th birthday today in waning health, Jawaharlal Nehru shows signs of increasing frustration with India's difficulties.

Tries to Shock Followers

He has been thinking out loud of resigning the prime minister's job and trying to influence India indirectly the way Mohandas K. Gandhi tried to do.

Some believe Nehru's remarks are intended primarily to shock his lagging followers into reform. But the possibility remains that he might quit.

Several of Nehru's recent comments have indicated frustration over factionalism and corruption in his Congresss party, over the disappointing pace of economic development and over the hostile deadlocks with neighboring China and Pakistan.

These problems are causing some Indians, including those not traditionally critical of Nehru, to say he is sinking into failure despite all he has done as a leader of India's independence struggle and as its only prime minister in 16 years of freedom.

Nehru's poor health and his talk of leaving the government have encouraged rumors that he is seeking to make his only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, the prime minister and to direct the government through her.

As Nehru's health wanes, the possibility also grows of a shadow government rather than clear-cut removal of Nehru and succession through normal party machinations.

Nehru looks to be in failing health despite official assertions to the contrary. But he continues to push himself as he has been for almost 30 years.

Nehru is generally given credit for building a free United India out of an area that has 14 major languages and now is inhabited by 462 million persons.

But newspapers and conversations in India concentrate on the things that have eluded Nehru: peace with India's neighbors; a check on population increase, and a sound system of political choices instead of a massive Congress party torn by in-fighting while other parties stand ineffectively aside.

Gets Year Probation For School Bomb Scare

SAUQUOIT, N.Y. (AP) — A youth who triggered a bomb scare Wednesday at Sauquoit Central School has been placed on probation for a year.

Lewis Jesek, 18, of Clayville, a village near Utica, pleaded guilty Wednesday night to a charge of communicating false information. Peace Justice Francis Griffin suspended the one - year jail sentence he imposed.

State Police said Jesek telephoned the school that there was a bomb in the building. The school was evacuated while troopers conducted a search, and classes were resumed when no bomb was found.

Jesek, a former pupil at the school, gave no reason for his action, troopers said.

Dems Plan Attack

HARRRISBURG (AP) — Senate Democrats are making plans for a full-scale attack on the Republican sponsored senatorial reapportionment bill when it comes up for debate and a final vote next week.

They gave a brief preview Wednesday in free-swinging debate as the Senate Reapportionment Committee sent the measure to the floor for the first of required readings.

Known for their rich shrimp and tuna fishing grounds, giant tortoises and iguanas, the Galapagos Islands belong to Ecuador.

Tool Engineers Honor Five Past Chapter Chairman

Chairman Andrew J. Horvath of Chapter 151, American Society of Tool Manufacturing Engineers, presented a certificate of recognition to the past chairmen of the local chapter at Wednesday night's meeting at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen.

Honored at the meeting were: Attila deIlly, 1958-59; John Kelly, 1959-60; Arthur R. Richter, 1960-61; George A. Berk, 1961-62; and Bernard A. Martin, 1962-63.

These men were honored for their work as chairmen and members of the local society. It was largely through their efforts and guidance that the chapter has steadily grown and become an important technical media for engineers employed in local industry.

Guest speakers George H. Main, eastern sales manager of Arwood Corporation and Harry L. Strauss, president and technical director of National Diamond Laboratories, Inc., presented informative lectures to the assemblage. Main discussed investment casting processes and covered many of fine points in this type of work. He presented technical information about the process, including fundamental phases, design, tolerance and inspection.

Strauss discussed the growing use of diamond cutting tools in industry. Industrial diamonds are becoming more and more widely used because of their superior cutting qualities and long life. He covered topics such as conventional and unusual applications for industrial diamonds, diamond turning tools and radius dressing techniques and the types of diamond tools used. His discussion was informative and provided area engineers with an inside look at the latest uses for industrial diamonds.

Police Checking Laundry, Home Entry, Car Theft

Police were notified Wednesday and today of a burglary at the Kingston Thomsons Laundries building, 38 Broadway, of the ransacking of West O'Reilly Street house and of the theft of a car.

Entrance to the laundry was gained through the breaking of a side window, and $23.47 was reported taken from an office desk drawer.

A report at 3:26 p. m. Wednesday said the house of Gloria Miltner, of 149 West O'Reilly Street, had been ransacked, but nothing of value was reported missing. Entrance was gained through an unlocked side door, police said.

The Rev. Moses Hutson, who resides at the YMCA, told police at 9:43 p. m. Wednesday that his 1958 Buick had been stolen from the Kingston Hospital parking lot. It apparently had been taken at about 9:30 p. m. he said.

Enrollment Is Up in Catholic Schools in Area

'I'M USEFUL AGAIN'

Not long ago there was a news picture of a man in his late 80s, long retired, who has taken to delivering papers. He offered this interesting comment when asked his reasons for thus interrupting his leisure: "I'm useful again."

It is axiomatic that as the proportionate number of aged men and women in our population increases, more and more effort will have to be made to provide the aged with useful, productive things to do. For as the case cited above illustrates, few of the aged relish constant idleness. Most of them would like to continue making some contribution to society; they are miserable when they feel rejected and useless.

This is particularly brought to mind by a Labor Department study of a trend toward a shorter span of active working life. It has been found that, for the first time in this century, the upward trend in the length of the working life has been reversed. A child born now can expect to spend somewhat less time in the work force than a child born as recently as 1950.

The work span is closing in at both ends. Earlier retirement cuts it off sooner than in the past, and longer schooling delays its start. It is retirement that makes the problems for those who, dropped from their jobs, face years or even decades of idleness Many such persons not only want work to "keep their hand in," but need it badly for economic reasons.

The problem, bound to be heightened by increasing automation, has not yet been faced in any general way. A lot of thought will have to be given to training retired men and women for new tasks, and the present reluctance to employ the aged will have to be overcome. The alternative is economic, political and psychological trouble that could be for the most part avoided by sensible action.

Discovery of an old settlement's remains confirms that Vikings found America 500 years before Columbus. But they didn't do anything with it when they found it.

WINNING DOES IT

About a year ago a Milwaukee sportswriter declared that professional football had become the national game and that baseball was practically a spent force. Spirited rebuttals were not long in coming. However, baseball moguls are not blind to football's appeal.

One of those particularly alert to that appeal is Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cleveland Indians. Paul came to Cleveland from the Cincinnati Reds a couple of years ago and, though one of the game's more imaginative leaders, could not stir up much enthusiasm. The Cleveland Browns, meanwhile, have created football enthusiasm aplenty, filling Municipal Stadium to capacity.

Though Paul has been impressed, he remains philosophical. The Browns are getting the crowds because they're winnnig, says he, just as the Indians got them in 1948 and 1954 when they won pennants.

This may be true, but if so it is cold comfort to Paul's team. If winning is the "only gate magic," as he says, spectator prospects appear dim in 1964; the Indians are not considered a pennant contender. They'll have to get higher on the totem pole to match Cleveland's football enthusiasm.

CHRISTMAS CLUB

Checks amounting to over $1,500,000 are being mailed out by local banking institutions to holders of Christmas Club accounts.

The annual distribution of the eight banking houses here of Christmas Club checks, which this year is a record amount, has an impact upon the business community. A large part of the savings will be used for holiday shopping. As a further stimulant to local business, some of these savings will be used for homes and home improvements and placed in savings accounts.

The Christmas Club provides a method by which we can saving during the year for the extra spending during the Christmas holidays. In this way we avoid going into debt in order to have a joyous holiday season. This sound practice is good for both the individual and the business community.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

AN ESSAY ON PEDAGOGY

Does anyone look at maps anymore? The young, who have been exposed to a vague mishmarsh called "social studies" in school in place of old-fashioned geography and history, seem to have only the faintest idea of the salient physical features of the globe. They know a lot about "social forces" (and I do not decry this); they know that nationalism and racialism are stirring Africa; they can tell you about the "revolution of rising expectations"; they know that the industrial revolution is still being exported from the West to the East; they can repeat all the cliches about "reaction" and "progressivism. But they don't know which way the rivers run in Siberia, or anything about great circle air routes, or why a certain strong point or strategic narrow is important.

I raise this question because there must be some connection between the disappearance of geography in the schools and our apparent willingness as a nation to put up with the most absurd gyrations in our foreign policy. In a hundred football stadiums in the land on any given Autumn Saturday our students know the importance of protecting the passer, or pulling out the guards to provide crushing blocks around the end. But that a nation can have physical flanks to protect is lost on people who think of Vietnam, for example, solely in terms of "democracy" or Cuba or British Guiana in relation to what, idealistically, a "social studies" teacher would advocate as "progress."

Talking recently with a college freshman who was home on a week-end, I was impressed by his knowledge of the ins and outs of palace intrigue in South Vietnam. He knew just how many Buddhists had immolated themselves; he had read everything in the papers about Ambassador Lodge's conclusions about the repressiveness of Diem's brother. His run-down of the situation in Southeast Asia, however, was entirely in approved modern "social study" terms. There wasn't a glimmer of understanding of what Vietnam meant physically to the safety of the non-Communist world.

This failure of a college freshman to think in elementary geographical terms would never have come about if, in grammar school or high school, he had had the old-fashioned drill in "bounding" countries. Knowing nothing about the sort of map gazing in which our fathers indulged, the freshman could not visualize South Vietnam in relation to the rest of Southeast Asia, or to China, or to India. He could not see that the section of neighboring Laos that is in control of the Communists permits Red guerillas to move from the Communist north into South Vietnam with relative impunity. He knew nothing about the Mekong River and its importance to the old Indo-Chinese region, nothing about rich rice bowls, or the necessity of keeping the Red Chinese from controlling the straits at Singapore, or from cutting in between the Philippines and India on the road to Australia.

Now this sort of elementary ignorance could have been prevented if the college freshman had had to learn about the Mekong River in a grammar school geography drill given over to the great rivers of the world. My own feeling that Russia must always be at a geographical disadvantage in war because her great rivers run north and south, emptying for the most part into the Arctic Ocean, has saved me from overestimating the Communist military threat to the West. I owe this to a grammar school drill that seemed onerous at the time. "Social studies" would have been a lot more pleasant than learning about the Lena, the Ob and the Volga, but would they have been more fundamental?

Bismarck used to say that the master of Bohemia (now part of Czechoslovakia) was the master of Europe. General Patton knew all about Bismarck, and in World War II he raced across southern Germany with his tanks to get to Bohemia ahead of the Russians. But our foreign policy, grounded in a "social study" mentality, was not set in simple geographical terms; it had decided that Communism was bound to dominate eastern Europe anyway. So Patton was called back from his forward position.

The moral: go back to geography and history in the schools. We won't have a sensible grasp of the world until we do.

Polluted Air Is Messenger Bearing Disease and Death

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If someone handed you an inhaler and told you it was full of poisonous chemicals I trust you would not sniff it. We are, however, all exposed to many poisons in the air. Why then are we not all sick?

Under favorable conditions air currents dilute and disperse most of the polluting substances. But the fact remains that we are simply not aware of how much quiet damage long-term exposure is doing until we develop one of the chronic respiratory diseases.

Some air pollutants are capable of causing lung cancer. It has been found the prolonged exposure to them is associated not only with a high incidence of lung cancer but also of stomach cancer.

Such exposure is responsible also for an increase in bronchial asthma and infections of the nose, throat and sinuses. Smog can make you cry, sneeze and cough and, in those who are already in a weakened condition or are suffering from a chronic respiratory disease, it can kill.

It can temporarily paralyze the cilia in the lungs and thus interfere with the natural cleansing of that organ. Furthermore asthma can definitely be aggravated by community-wide burning of leaves in the fall.

Studies show that persons who have been made sick by severe smog and have recovered have a much greater susceptibility to future respiratory diseases than their neighbors who are not made sick. Thus, the ill effects on one's health may persist for many years.

As though this were not enough, consider the fact that the cost of air pollution in crop destruction, disease in livestock, erosion of stone and metal surfaces of buildings, increased need for laundry and dry cleaning, and damage to painted surfaces has been estimated to be $7.5 billion annually.

If steps are ever taken to control air pollution it may well be for these reasons rather than for reasons of health.

In attacking the problem each community must have exact knowledge of what pollutants are present locally and how they are causing injury. One of the chief reasons for a lack of progress in air pollution control has been the fact that there is no simple universal solution and that as industrial methods change the types of pollutant change. The only way to get rid of pollutants in the air is to control them at their source. Ordinances aimed at controlling smoke from furnaces have helped in many cities.

In the past 25 years we have learned much about the causes and effects of air pollution but little has been done to control it. Air pollution is a man-made problem. Man must find the answer or risk ever increasing impairment of his health.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — American Education Week, Nov. 10-16, may celebrate congerssional approval of U. S. government aid to education programs for the next three years. But there may also be some expressions of mourning by the professional educators over what they wanted but didn't get.

The five-year, $5-billion omnibus aid to education package which President Kennedy submitted to Congress last January is being cut way back. Of the 24 programs proposed, only six are being enacted, with many modifications and some extensions of old programs.

The major curtailment is that new aid to primary and secondary schools is out for classroom construction and teacher training. Decision to drop these programs, to have cost $1.5 billion, was taken last May. There is little chance that they can be revived even next year, though it may be tried.

Federal aid for testing seventh and eighth graders to determine their capablities was dropped. New guidance and counseling services for public and nonprofit schools were also dropped.

GRANTS TO THE STATES to provide teacher training for handicapped children — principally the deaf and blind — were eliminated, though aid for the mentally retarded has been provided in separate legislation.

All new programs proposed for aiding adult education were cut out. This excludes additional aid for extension service courses in land grant colleges and state universities, adult basic education and special aid for adult education libraries.

An administration plan to pay half the wages of needy students given part-time employment in college communities was not even considered by Congress.

The plan to provide federal aid for two years of college level education of semiprofessional technicians in engineering, science and health was dropped. But a much broader program for expanded federal aid to vocational education at high school and junior college levels was substituted by Congress and has been considered separately.

ALL ADMINISTRATION PROPOSALS for federal aid to improve educational quality were dropped. They would have provided training of specialized teachers for both gifted children and illiterates. Two programs to strengthen educational research and improve the gathering of educational statistics were dropped as unnecessary.

Extension and some expansion of the college student loan plan and extra aid for schools in areas where large numbers of federal employes cause an extra burden is expected to be passed separately.

Another proposal to grant a tax credit for the costs of college education is still under consideration. It was not part of the original Kennedy program but it is gaining steadily increasing support in Congress. Twenty-two senators have now introduced bills for this purpose. But it is being handled as part of the tax bill now before Congress.

THE MAIN AID TO education programs which Congress has seen fit to approve, costing $1.2 billon over the next three years, include:

$690 million in matching grants for the construction of college classrooms, science laboratories, foreign language facilities and libraries, with $155 million of this reserved for junior colleges.

$360 million in loans for such facilities.

$145 million for graduate school expansion.

Earlier in the year, Congress authorized a $236-million program to construct medical school facilities and provide loans for medical students.

In summary, many essentials have been provided to aid education. But most of the educational frills are cut out.

Kennedy Space Base Tour: Is It All So Non-Political?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The Republicans haven't chosen their Presidential candidate yet, but President Kennedy has already begun his campaign for re-election. What are billed as "non-political trips are really opportunities to cement political friendships and to visit with the local leaders—an important piece of political campaigning in itself.

Mr. Kennedy goes this week-end to Florida—primarily, it is announced, to take a first-hand look at the work being done on the new U. S. moon-shot facilities. He will be briefed on various aspects of the program and on other phases of the civilian space projects, and will witness the launching of a Polaris A-2 missile.

Now, all of this is within the legitimate purview of the Presidential office, but the question arises whether the trip was purposely arranged for the inspection of the space projects or whether the visit to Cape Canaveral is just an excuse to mend political fences in Florida. The Tampa Times, an independent paper and one of the largest and most influential dailies in the state, said editorially the other day:

"President Kennedy's trip to Florida next week is billed as non-political. That, of course, fools nobody. No president less than a year from a bid for re-election takes non-political trips. Mr. Kennedy will be making a strong appeal for votes and support in an attempt to swing Florida out of the Republican column which it occupied in the last three Presidential races.

"What are his prospects? The best guess is that they are not good. But the real answer to that question must wait until Republicans choose their 1964 slate.

"Florida gave its electoral votes to the Nixon-Lodge ticket in 1960 by a slim margin. But a short time after John F. Kennedy took office his popularity here soared. It was obvious then that, if he lived up to his early statements and committed no serious errors, Florida would be his in 1964.

"But is wasn't long before the cards began falling wrong for the bright, young man in the White House. Loas and Cuba, a couple of deuces, turned up when aces were needed. Nobody really blamed Kennedy at first for the Bay of Pigs disaster. Cuba, after all, was an inherited problem. But it wasn't long before the new Administration demonstrated an inability to if not transcended, that of the old Administration. . . .

"The President's stand on civil rights has also hurt his position in Florida. There is a swell of opinion that he is attempting too much, too soon. And there is an angry tide of resentment directed against measures which will dictate employment and clientele practices to private business.

"Tampa is not Birmingham. It isn't even Chicago. Our racial relations here are, undoubtedly, less than ideal from the Negro's standpoint. But improvements have been made and are being made. A solid line of communication exists between the white and colored communities and there is a mutuality of respect between white and Negro leaders. Tampa is moving forward on a 'do-it-yourself' course of racial harmony.

"Opposition here to strict civil rights legislation, then, is not based on a desire to keep the Negro in his place' but to preserve the individual rights of all men, white and colored alike, against Federal encroachment . . .

"The President will find a friendly atmosphere during his visit to Florida, but prospects that many of the hands he shakes next week will pull a voting-machine lever for him next year are relatively remote."

Mr. Kennedy is scheduled to make five talks in Florida—in the northern as well as southern part of the state. He will speak at a dedication ceremony at Tampa marking the 50th anniversary of an early aviation flight. He then will talk to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, and this is to be followed—also in Tampa—by a speech to 600 labor leaders from various unions which are influential throughout Florida.

In Miami there is to be what is described officially as a "rally" at the airport, where he doubtless will speak to the crowd to be assembled there. Then the President will attend a dinner of the Inter-American Press Institute.

When Mr. Kennedy leaves here Friday, he will go first to New York to address the AFL-CIO convention. He hasn't missed a speech to the national labor leaders at their meetings each year since he has been in the White House.

Whether all this comes under the heading of a "non-political" trip is not to be resolved by looking up to the precedents, as other Presidents have also made many of these so-called "non-political" trips. These are paid for by the taxpayers, whereas anybody making "non-political" or "political" trips on the opposition side has to pay his own expenses. Neither the "equal time" nor the "equal expense" theory seems to apply. Since radio and TV time for political speeches really doesn't begin to be granted till the Republicans have actually selected a Presidential candidate in July, 1964.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I appreciate all the mail, newspaper clippings and other items and information give to me by my readers. Mrs. Carliton Finch, of 55 Center Road, High Falls, New York, writes: "Dear Sophie: I am looking for a place that should be a part of our Hudson Valley. It is called Lysjes kil, New York. One Johannah Hooghteling and David Williams were married there March 15, 1789. I should think it might be in our Kingston-Saugerties area. Your article is of great interest to me, and I enjoy it more each edition. Please continue the good work. Sincerely, Mrs. Carliton Finch."

So far I have not found any information on the above, but perhaps my readers can help Mrs. Finch. Her card shows "Old Forge Covered Bridge, Dry Brook Road, Seager, New York." It is a Litho by the Spalding Publishers of Chicago, Ill. Incidentally, I see in the "Twenty and Ten Years Ago" column of Monday's Freeman, Oct. 21, 1963 the following: "Oct. 20, 1963. Cost of repairing Perrine's Bridge at Rifton, one of the state's older covered spans, was fixed at $20,000." Whatever became of that idea. In case anyone is further interested, the Perrine Bridge was built around 1850, and is some 138-feet long, across the Wallkill River between Rifton and Rosendale. If a wooden structure can withstand, time, weather and man's abuse so long, through trying times as we have now, perhaps just a little could be spent on it. It would seem New York State would have a little something for such historical structures to take care of it.

I received a very interesting letter from Arthur J. Laidlaw, former superintendent of schools in the City of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw now live at 642 Harwood Avenue, Orlando, Fla. I understand, from Ambrose Boyd, principal of the George Washington School, that Mr. Laidlaw recently made a visit to Kingston and stopped in there. Mr. Laidlaw's letter to me, refers to a column I had of Friday evening, Oct. 11.

Mr. Laidlaw's letter to me reads in part as follows: "Your statement that the doors and windows in the George Washington School cost some $250,000 could not be farther from the truth. At the time this school was built I was the superintendent of schools in the City of Kingston. If I remember correctly the total cost of the school, including all furniture and equipment, was approximately $1,243,000. Certainly no such sum of money as $250,000 could have been allocated for doors and windows. Possibly the actual cost might be obtained from Harry Halverson, the architect who designed the school building, and or from Slutsky, the general contractor. The reason for installing copper covered outside doors was because there is a minimum of upkeep, and they last practically during the life of the building."

Mr. Laidlaw concludes his letter with: "Mrs. Laidlaw and I enjoy reading your column which appears in 'The Freeman', which paper follows us where ever we may be living. Very truly yours, Arthur J. Laidlaw." I read this letter with great pleasure and am honored that Mr. Laidlaw follows my column and of course I am now trying to get more information on the number and cost of the doors and windows of the George Washington School. Perhaps the readers maybe able to help break down the figures of the construction of this school and other schools.

Two Would Ban Canadian Bread

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two Buffalo area assemblymen—one a Republican, the other a Democrat—say they will ask the Legislature to ban the importation into New York State of bread baked in Canada.

Assemblymen William E. Adams (R) and Albert J. Hausbeck (D) said Wednesday that up to 50,000 Canadian loaves, many in unmarked wrappers, were brought daily over the border at Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

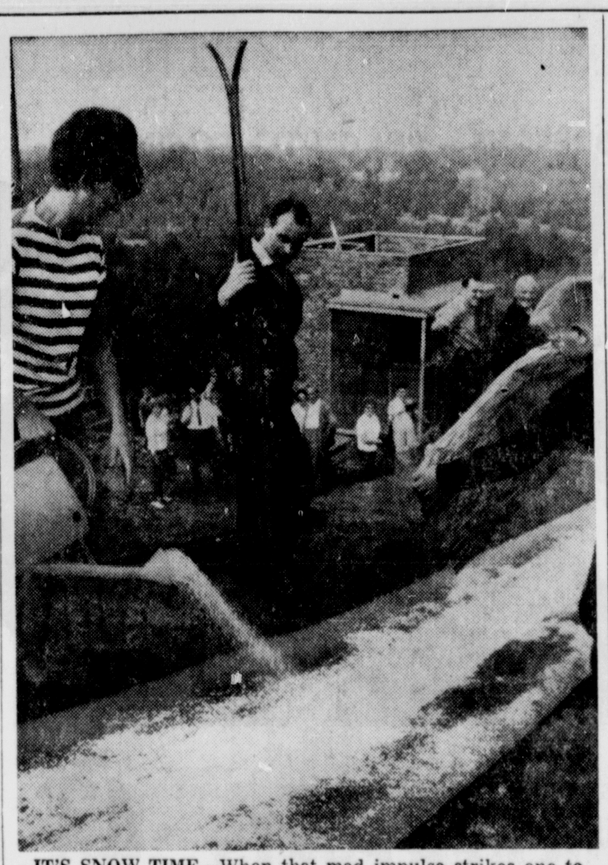

Adams and Hausbeck told a meeting of union and bakery industry representatives that 2,000 bakery workers had been made jobless and seven bakeries closed largely as a result of Canadian bread importations.

They said the importations were increasing at a rate of 20 per cent a year.

The Adams - Hausbeck bill, which will be introduced Friday, bars entry of bread baked by a firm not owned by U.S. interests and importation of bread from a nation which does not have a reciprocal trade agreement on bread with this country.

Canada does not have such an agreement.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-Rochester) and Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski (D-Buffalo) have filed bills in Congress requesting reciprocal trade agreement on Canadian bread.

To Include $300,000 For Cayuga Flood Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $300,000 appropriation will be included in a House public-works money bill to begin construction of the Cayuga Inlet flood-control project at Ithaca, N.Y.

Rep. Howard W. Robison, Republican whose district includes Ithaca, reported Wednesday that the House Appropriations Committee had agreed to include the funds in a bill to be approved by the committee Friday.

No money for the project had been requested by President Kennedy.

Robison said construction of the project would permit completion of plans for highways and other projects held in abeyance pending completion of the inlet work.

Spellman Opposes Juridical Power For Bishop Meets

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman put himself in open opposition Tuesday to the majority of American prelates at the Vatican Ecumenical Council, declaring himself against any juridical power for national bishops' conferences.

The isssue of episcopal conference power, which could decentralize Roman Catholic Church administration, continued to divide the 2,300 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica.

Cardinal Spellman was one of two princes of the church who spoke on the matter today. The other, Joseph Cardinal Frings of Cologne, put himself among prelates advocating limited juridical powers. A third group wants even broader powers.

The New York cardinal, expressing a view supported by conservatives, said that no good could come of giving national episcopal conferences the right to make binding decision on individual bishops.

Cardinal Frings, progressive, followed the American cardinal to the floor and said he agreed with him to a certain extent. But he voiced support for granting limited juridical powers to such conferences.

This in effect is the view of Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and two-thirds of the 180 U.S. prelates at the Catholic gathering.

Cardinal Meyer, speaking for 120 U.S. prelates, and two other American cardinals addressed the council Tuesday. Joseph Elmer Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis went further than Cardinal Meyer in advocating broader powers for the episcopal conferences. But James Francis Cardinal McInture of Los Angeles took a view similar to that expressed by Cardinal Spellman.

Names In The News

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—While 4,000 music lovers waited, Pablo Casals paced backstage, stage hands scurried about and police sounded an SOS.

Casals, who was to conduct the New Orleans Philharmonic-Symphony in his oratorio, "El Pesserbe," arrived at the hall without his score.

After 15 minutes, the 86-year-old master of the cello began the concert using an unmarked score.

But cab driver Ralph W. Swafford had heard the police alarm. He rushed to the hall and delivered the score, which Casals had left in the cab.

DETROIT (AP) — Methodist Bishop Herbert Welch of New York, who was 101 years old last week, offers the "Welch quadrilateral law of longevity" for living to a ripe old age:

"First, moderation in work whenever circumstances permit; second, a prohibition of worry; third, a little play; and fourth and most important, a trust in God."

Welch, ordained a minister in 1890, is in Detroit for the National Conference of Methdist Bishops.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Dr. George Gallup, the poll taker, says candidates for president should abandon barnstorming campaigns and make only six major speeches. He proposed that the speeches be broadcast with telecast nationwide with no competing programs allowed.

"It's the least we can expect of the networks and ask of our people," said Gallup in a speech to the New Jersey Taxpayers Association at Newark.

"Present campaigning requires not brains but an iron constitution and does damage to a candidate's health and sanity," Gallup said.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — At the halfway point, the final quarter of the year is looking even better for many industries than they'd expected. And that worries some of them a little.

Their sales and new orders are impressive. Their profits have risen. Their inventories are about in line with current and prospective business. Their customers seem in a confident mood.

Not All Prospering

And, with the exception of a few speculative flareups in the stock market, there's been no sign of a dangerous rush to overconfidence. If there are seeds of boom-and-bust, they haven't sprouted.

About the only expressions of worry come from those who think times are so good that appearances must be deceiving, that inner weaknesses must be hidden.

All lines of business, as usual, aren't prospering. Nor are all regions of the nation. All too many persons are out of work. Many more now working fear their jobs are threatened by machines.

But with a little more than six weeks to go, the economy taken as a whole is making 1963 a top year.

Final Ones Usually Best

For many businesses the final months are customarily the best of the year. And some see these final weeks as even better than usual. The auto industry is a prime example. And running ahead of a year ago are factory shipments of refrigerators, kitchen ranges, water heaters, dishwashers, and food waste disposers.

New Orders for all factories set a record in September and unfilled orders guaranteed busy weeks and months ahead.

Personal Incomes Up

Industrial production as a whole has hit a new high, with only a few components lagging.

Personal incomes at last report were at an annual rate of $466.5 billion, up $21 billion from a year ago.

All of this addds up to a grand total for the nation's output of goods and services — the Gross National Product—of $588.5 billion at an annual rate, up $32 billion for the year.

These records don't solve all the problems by any means.

Some say times will have to get a lot better still, if jobs are to be found for all those who really want them.

Problems there are and will continue to be. But most businessmen admit that 1963 is one of the better years, with the final weeks looking particularly bright.

South Wanted Best to Happen

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North didn't have much of an opening bid, and after West took him off the hook with his one spade overcall, North shouldn't have raised to two hearts.

South moved right to the heights. North had to respond to Blackwood and then hope for the best at six hearts.

South won the opening club lead and started to play trumps. East showed out on the first lead, and South stopped for a moment to determine the significance of West's overcall and of East's failure to raise. His conclusion was that West must have the ace of diamonds in addition to the king-queen of clubs and most of the spades.

South ran off five trumps. His discards from dummy were a diamond and a club. East just discarded clubs. West let a spade and a diamond go.

Now South was sure that West had discarded down to ace and a small diamond. He cashed dummy's two spades to discard his ten of clubs, ruffed a club, led a low diamond to dummy's queen, returned a diamond and played low. West had to play his ace and South's king of diamonds and last trump accounted for the remaining two tricks.

East thought that West could have discarded more intelligently, but actually South could make the hand against any defense, once the club was opened.

Council Approves Schema on Mass Teaching Media

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council called on the Church today to use modern methods of mass communications to spread its teachings.

The council fathers, meeting in St. Peter's Basilica, approved a schema "on the media of mass commmunications" which:

1. Proposed national organizations of priests and laymen to promote better use of communications and culture.
2. Suggested some kind of international office be set up in Rome for the exchange of communications ideas.
3. Urged those employed in mass communications to work for the benefit of mankind.
4. Called for free flow of information in the world.

There had been reports that the document would suggest establishment of an international Catholic news agency, but the schema contained no such proposal.

The vote was in two parts, on the preamble and first chapter of the schema and on its second chapter.

The prelates approved the preamble and first chapter 1,832-92, with 243 others approving but with reservations. The second vote was 1,893-103 with 125 approvals with reservations.

Will Link With State Thruway

Opening Scheduled Nov. 25 Of 16-Mile Taconic Section

The opening of a new 16-mile section of the Taconic State Parkway at its northern end, to connect with the Berkshire section of the New York State Thruway near East Chatham, will take place in ceremonies to be held Monday morning, Nov. 25.

This was announced today jointly by Charles W. Merritt, chairman of the East Hudson Parkway Authority, which operates the parkway, and R. Burdell Bixby, chairman and secretary of the New York State Thruway Authority.

Parkway Now 105 Miles Long

Alexander Aldrich, executive assistant to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, will represent the governor at the historic event of linking the parkway, now 105 miles in length, with the State Thruway system.

Other officials to take part, in addition to those of the East Hudson and Thruway authorities, will include J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works. He will represent the New York State Department of Public Works, which supervised construction of the parkway.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. with a brief ceremony at the southern end of the new parkway section, at Route 23 in Martindale, where it joins the previously-built part of the Taconic State. According to schedule, a ribbon will be cut here to signify the joining of the old and new sections of the parkway.

Following a motorcade of participants northward, the main ceremony and a similar ribbon-cutting will take place at 11 a. m., at the parkway-Thruway interchange near East Chatham.

Covers Four Counties

With its newly-completed section, Taconic State Parkway is now a scenic route extending all the way from Kensico Dam in Valhalla, on the south, to the Thruway connection at East Chatham. Built entirely with New York State funds, it covers four counties—Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess and Columbia—and links on the south with the Westchester County Parkway system.

The new section, under construction since 1959, traverses picturesque, semi-mountainous country in Columbia County, and is one of the most scenic as well as the most modern of all. It's a divided highway of two-lane northbound and southbound roadways, each 24 feet wide, corresponding to the adjoining section of the parkway.

Construction contracts for the new section represent a total expenditure of state funds estimated at more than $12 million.

At the start of construction of this section the Taconic State Park Commission had jurisdiction over the parkway. Then, in 1962, the East Hudson Parkway Authority took over. Throughout the period of construction District 8 of the New York State Department of Public Works, headquartered in Poughkeepsie, has had charge of engineering and supervision of construction. M. N. Sinacori is district engineer in charge of District 8.

Started in 1929

Grading, drainage and structures for the new section of parkway were handled under contracts with the D. V. Frione Company and Savin Brothers, while the paving and completion work was done by the Peckham Road Company and the Torrington Construction Company.

Historically Taconic State Parkway was one of the first parkways to be undertaken by the State of New York. Its construction, beginning in 1929, has moved step-by-step northward covering a period of 34 years.

The first sections of the parkway were built in Westchester County and covered a distance of 21.6 miles from connection with the Bronx River Parkway at Kensico Dam to the Westchester-Putnam County line. The first of these sections, originally known as the Bronx Parkway Extension, was opened as far north as Route 202, Yorktown, on Nov. 14, 1931, while the extension to the county line was opened to traffic in 1933.

These sections in Westchester were built by the Westchester County Park Commission, as agent for the state and with state funds. The Commission, which also built and operated the Westchester County Parkway System—the nation's first parkways—also operated and maintained the Taconic section, with state funds, until in 1941 the Taconic State Park Commission took over for the state. About that time the name of the parkway was also changed to Taconic State Parkway.

Previously, the sections of the parkway being built in Putnam and Dutchess Counties had been known as the Eastern State Parkway. These included the first section in Putnam, from the Westchester County line northward to Jefferson Valley Road, opened in 1932. Moving northward, the parkway reached Peekskill Hollow Road in 1933, Fahnestock Park in 1935, and Route 55, just east of Poughkeepsie, in 1938.

Following a delay during World War 2 years, the parkway was extended to Route 199 at Lafayetteville in 1949. It reached Route 82 at West Taghkanic in 1955 and Route 23 at Martindale in 1958.

All these earlier sections in Putnam, Dutchess and Columbia Counties were built under the jurisdiction of the Taconic State Park Commission, up until the East Hudson Parkway Authority took over. Through the years, too, the State Department of Public Works, District 8, has been in charge of engineering and immediate supervision of construction.

Four Plays at Phoenix

NEW YORK (AP) — The Phoenix Theater is celebrating its 10th season with a four-play series that includes a stage version of Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

The drama will be done in collaboration with Paul Gregory and Janet Gaynor prior to a coast-to-coast tour. Preceding it on the production schedule are Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," which opens Nov. 25 under Peter Coe's direction, and a revival of "Too Much Johnson," a farce played for years by William Gillette. Still to be chosen is the fourth offering.

Convict Negroes Of Trespassing

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—Three young Negro college students were convicted Wednesday of trespassing during a racial demonstration.

The students had been convicted in Recorder's Court several weeks ago and sentenced to one year in jail. They appealed to superior court, where a jury also found them guilty.

Judge Chester Morris delayed sentencing of Colin and Colbert Minga, 21-year-old twin brothers of Spring Valley, N.Y., and Willie Marlyn Francis, 21, of Franklin, Va., to allow more study of the case.

Police testified that the students blocked entrances to several downtown business establishments during a demonstration Sept. 22.

In Roman times, Paris was a small fishing village called Lutetia.

Westchester Firm Finishes 25 Homes At Whittier Site

There has been a remarkable change from a sparsely settled town to a thriving community since May 1962 when Rahmani Construction Corporation, a leading Westchester builder of residential and commercial properties, came to Ulster County and began developing and completing the presently thriving community of Whittier Gardens, near Flatbush.

In 1962 there were more than 35 houses standing as framed out skeletons. In a little more than a year, through the joint cooperation of Rahmani Construction personnel, the Ulster Town Board, the banking institutions, local residents of Whittier, local tradesmen and local realtors, 25 houses have been completed, sold and delivered, and only six homes remain unsold.

Recently Rahmani Construction Company purchased the last five houses in Whittier Gardens and is finishing them with the same quality of materials and workmanship used in their custom built homes in Westchester County. These five houses are the luxury-type homes and are larger than those previously completed by Rahmani Construction Corporation in Whittier Gardens. They are completed and open for inspection now one of which has already been sold.

But, Bishop Pike told the Catholic seminarians:

"If unity ever arrives, we can use some priests in our parish."

Change in One Juror

During the trial a juror, Beatrice Anna Re, Kingston, juror number 8 notified County Judge Raymond J. Mino that she had been a member of the grand jury at one time when she believed one of the parties involved in the case on trial had been under grand jury investigation, and she believed she might be influenced by that fact. She was excused from service on the case and alternate number one was substituted on the panel.

Henderson was represented by William P. Curran. After the case had been moved Henderson entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault on Miller and he is now awaiting sentence.

The jury retired at 2:54 p. m. Wednesday and returned the "not guilty" verdict against Lewis at 3:20 p. m.

Policeman's Role In Society Seen Full of Conflict

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The average city policeman sees himself sternly as "a punitive figure," but he's a pushover for a lost child.

These are part of the findings of a team of sociological researchers who set out at Syracuse police headquarters to find out what makes the man in blue tick.

After 82 hours watching the city's guardians of justice in action and closely questioning many officers, the researchers concluded that the policeman's role in society was "full of ambiguity and conflict."

Among their findings, reported Wednesday, were:

— The policeman, who often must enforce unpopular laws, regards himself as "'a punitive figure in a society devoted to warm, informal relationship."

— Frequently he must deal with persons from his own social strata and thus may find himself in sympathy with the very conduct he is obliged to condemn.

—He is likely to become "impatient with the due processes of law because he does not really understand the abstract concepts of justice upon which they are based."

—He feels his comparatively low pay reflects the value that society places upon him.

One of the researchers observed that "nothing will raise more personal concern in a policeman than the report that a little girl is lost."

The researchers found the average policeman to be a working sociologist without the sociological training needed to deal with the human problems he continuously encounters.

The profile was drawn by Dr. Elaine Cumming and Laura Edell of the State Mental Health Research unit in Syracuse, working with Dr. Cumming's son, Ian, a medical student at Kansas University. Their findings will be presented at the American Public Health Association meeting in Kansas City.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Central Railroad has permission to try out a rotating, flashing signal to warn motorists of approaching trains at grade crossings.

TO SPACE AND BACK—Huge sphere, left, was home for 30 days to four "terranauts" who successfully carried out a simulated voyage into space at GE's Space Technology Center in Valley Forge, Pa. Their "ship" was a 12½-foot by 24-foot cylinder inside the sphere. Wide-angle lens, right, catches the two sections of the space cabin. Two of the crew can be seen operating controls on the flight deck while the other two relax off duty on the living deck. The experiment was conducted under conditions closer to actual long-duration space flight than any previous test. Had the men really been in space, they would have completed 480 orbits of earth.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Operation Water Moccasion," scheduled in Georgia last March, was a military exercise in anti-guerrilla warfare with between about 3,000 American troops and 124 foreign officers representing our allies participating.

Rumors started. Foreign troops were taking over the state. There were "3,000 Mongolian troops, "2,000 Congolese troops," "100,000 fighters — barefoot." It was "a U.N. takeover, even a Red one."

Newspapers and broadcasters denied the gossip, and "CBS Reports" assigned a crew to trace the rumors to their source.

Results were shown Wednesday night. The trail carried reporter Roger Mudd from Washington to California, to New Orleans, to Florida—and back to Washington.

He talked with an alarmed housewife in Lompoc, Calif., a radio spellbinder in Mesa, Arizona, and at least three right-wing writers who had pushed the story along. He also ran across some anti-Semitic undercurrents.

But the source was a newsletter to constituents from Rep. James B. Utt, R-Calif., and it was, he said, a mistake.

The congressman, lacking precise information about the manpower makeup of the maneuvers, had expressed concern. In the same sentence he mentioned a rumored concentration of "barefoot" African forces in Cuba.

"I'm sorry," said Utt, "that they read it out of context."

Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., said the water moccasion rumor now seems dead, but new ones are coming along, including one that the Post Office's new "ZIP"" system is "part of a United Nations plot to number people for the final takeover."

It was an illuminating program and a real public service.

ABC executives respond with a cautious "no comment" to rumors that conferences are being held about cancelling the weekly "Jerry Lewis Show," which has received a poor reception from audiences and critics.

In the newest Nielsen ratings, covering the last two weeks in October, the two-hour Saturday night show was embarrassingly far down in the list.

As two weeks earlier, "Beverly Hillbillies," "'Bonanza," and "The Dick Van Dyke Show" were win, place and show. The only new show on the top-10 list was, again, CBS' "Petticoat Junction."

Recommended tonight: "Suspense Theatre," NBC, 10-11 (EST)—"One Step Down," Ida Lupino and Leslie Nielsen in a drama of infedelity and death.

JFK Prods Solons On Tax-Slash Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy prodded Congress again today to pass his tax-cut bill as a means to prevent the economy from suffering.

Kennedy told a news conference further long delay on both taxes and on civil rights legislation would be unfortunate.

Hope Is Dim

He voiced a hope that the measure to slash taxes $11 billion can reach the Senate floor before the end of this year—a dim hope in the light of the present legislative jam.

Kennedy said the hearings on the tax bill have been "quite voluminous" and that it seems possible to shorten the Senate hearings and bring the measure to the floor before the end of the year.

Delay on the tax bill, he said, may be bad for the economy and he thinks no one in Congress would wish this.

One danger, Kennedy said is that if the tax measure does go over into 1964, the civil rights bill will get to the Senate about the same time and there may be even further delay. He said the House could act on civil rights this year.

Rules Out Peking Trade

In response to another question, Kennedy said the United States is not going to trade with Red China in view of the policy that country pursues. He added that there might be a reconsideration should Communist China show a desire to live in peace.

Regarding Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, deposed First Lady of Viet Nam, he said she certainly will be allowed to come back to this country if she wants to. She is now in Rome.

Replying to a question about increasing resistance to foreign aid on Capitol Hill, Kennedy said it is the worst attack since the beginning of the Marshall Plan.

He said it would be a great mistake to vote down the program altogether. He said Congress has the right to decide how much money to appropriate, but the President has particular responsibility for foreign policy.

He said it is no coincidence that the three past presidents, and their opponents in election campaigns, "all recognize the importance of this program." Foreign aid, he said, is an arm of U.S. policy. Noting the high expenditures on defense and space, he remarked "yet we're going to deny the president of the United States a very valuable weapon."

"I don't understand why we're suddenly so fatigued," he said.

Other Subjects

He expressed belief the need will not be over in this century, but said it is not a high percentage of the national budget.

What is going to happen if the situation in Laos worsens, he asked. "Are they going to blame the Senate or are they going to blame me?" The President said—pointing to himself.

Kennedy said he knows the answer to that one.

These other subjects came into the conference:

Cambodia—Kennedy said he regards as serious the rejection of U.S. aid by that Asian country which has indicated it is swinging toward the Soviets.

Viet Nam — Asked if Gen. Paul Harkins has lost his usefulness in Viet Nam because of contacts with the Nhu regime, Kennedy said this is not true, that the general has been only doing his job and had not seen the Nhus an excessive number of times.

He added he hopes for an increased effort in the war against Communism there.

Kennedy said a conference in Honolulu, which will be attended by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, will review the new situation, U.S. aid and the war effort.

Hopes to Stabilize Viet

He said the United States hopes to bring Americans out of Viet Nam and stabilize the situation there.

Wheat deal — Kennedy said agencies of the government are not doing more in the wheat deal negotiations with the Soviet Union than would be done "for any friendly country."

He said the agreement is still being negotiated "and I don't know what's going to happen on the deal."

Communist travel — Kennedy said if the Soviet Union reduced the percentage of its country that is out of bounds for U.S. officials' travel, the United States would be willing also to reduce its restricted areas.

He said the nuclear bases in this country are critically important to the United States and the whole Western alliance.

Thinks She's Formidable

Politics — Kennedy said that if he were a Republican candidate, he would not relish the prospect of campaigning against Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in New Hampshire, where there will be a presidential primary soon.

As a possible candidate himself, Kennedy said with a grin, he regarded Sen. Smith as a formidable opponent—if that is a proper word to apply to a lady like Mrs. Smith.

Medical care—Kennedy said he thinks his program for medical care for the aged under Social Security will be cleared by the House Ways and Means Commmittee, and will pass Congress. But he said that won't come this year.

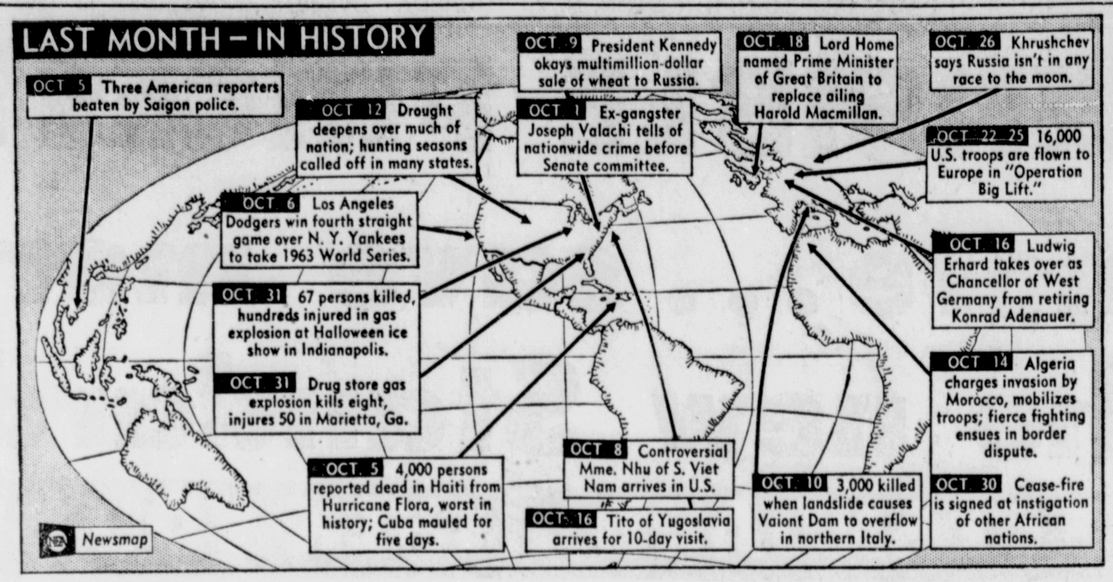

Argentine oil—Kennedy said Argentina's plan to nationalize the oil industry is now being negotiated with U.S. officials who want to make sure there is adequate machinery for compensation of the private owners.

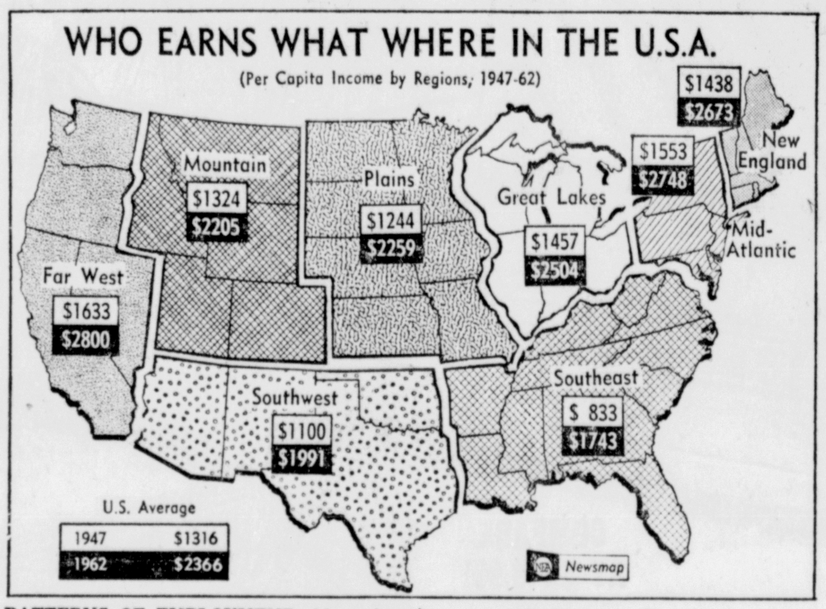

For the Grownups

MEMPHIS (AP)—Some politicians will stop at nothing when they are running for office.

For instance, guess what was stuffed into trick-or-treat sacks of innocent little goblins and witches at one Memphis house last Halloween.

Right, Campaign literature.

PATTERNS OF EMPLOYMENT—More Americans are earning—on the average—more money, no matter what section of the nation is examined. Newsmap, comparing per capita income in 1947 with income in 1962, reveals that the far western states led in both years. Actually, however, the West's lead over the rest of the nation has declined slightly; per capita income is now more evenly distributed, partly because of the migration of many industries. Data from U.S. Dept. of Labor.

Shortest Enlistments Offered by U. S. Army

The shortest enlistments offered by any service, with a guarantee of the assignment chosen by the enlistee, are still available in the Army, according to Recruiting Sergeant Edward Malenski, at the Army Recruiting Station at the Central Post Office, Kingston.

Sgt. Malenski said that the Army is the only service which offers guaranteed training or overseas choice prior to enlistment. He said that he is still authorized to accept three-year enlistments and that he can provide written guarantees before enlistment that the volunteer will receive the assignment for which he qualifies.

Practicality of this three-year enlistment has been proven both to the satisfaction of the Army and to the millions of young men who have benefited from it in the past.

The term of enlistment allows attendance at any of the Army's 107 technical schools, including even those electronic schools lasting a full year; however, it also allows the Army to utilize the skills thus acquired by the soldier.

Any one interested in this three-year enlistment with the assignment guarantee, may get details by visiting Sfc. Malenski at the Central Post Office.

Dancers will not walk on concrete floors. They insist on wood, because any long exposure to rock-like concrete could ruin their feet. Housewives have the same affinity for easy-to-walk-on wood floors.

Memoriam

QUICK—In loving memory of our mother, Harriet Quick who passed away 1 year ago today Nov. 14, 1962.

God hold your loving arms around her,
And keep her in your loving care.
Make up to her for all she has suffered,
And everything that was unfair.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb;
He gently closed her loving eyes
And whispered peace be thine.

Museum Hit Hard By Frisco Fire, $Million Damage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spectacular general alarm fire gutted four buildings in San Francisco's historic Cliff House complex Tuesday night.

Hardest hit was a three-story museum that housed priceless heirlooms from the city's pioneer days.

Dramatic action by 300 firemen saved the Cliff House Restaurant itself. Flames roared to within 50 feet of the restaurant building, which in the past has burned down twice.

The museum, a hot dog stand, a gift shop, and a coffee shop were burned out. Unofficial estimates ran to $1 million.

Fire Chief William Murray said faulty wiring may have caused the blaze that erupted in the museum's sub-basement.

The front and roof of the museum blew out in an explosion of flame, knocking one fireman off a high ladder. He suffered a fractured shoulder, the most seriously injured among 16 firemen otherwise treated for smoke inhalation, lacerations and bruises. No one else was hurt.

Hurley Lions Cite Members, Get World's Fair Preview

A pictorial tour of the 1964 World's Fair was the highlight of the Hurley Lions Club meeting Wednesday night at Hurley Reformed Church.

G. Alan Johnson, who took over as manager of the Kingston office of the N. Y. Telephone Co. in October, was in charge of the special program following a covered dish supper for members and their wives.

Attendance Awards

Prior to the fair preview, Wilson Tinney, Lions International counselor and a member of Kingston Lions, presented one-year perfect attendance awards to: Charles Barnett, L. Bushnell, Vernon Goetchius, Jack Halbert, Randy Kelder, J. Leahy, E. Maxwell, G. Miller, W. Schiff Jr., Oliver Tweedy, Leroy Webber, Roger Vogt, A. Dumas, H. Francis, D. Forman, J. Fitter, R. Johnson, F. Miller, Holcomb Tomson, J. Woodard, H. Finger, C. Jansen, G. Johnston, L. Lawrence, Ernest Myer, the Rev. Harold E. Schadewald and William Wood.

Six and seven-year awards were given to Vernon Goetchius, Jack Halbert, Randy Kelder and G. Miller, six years and Oliver Tweedy, seven.

E. Maxwell, F. Miller, W. Schiff Jr. and Leroy Webber, all charter members of Hurley Lions with perfect attendance since the inception of the club, received awards for eight years of perfect attendance.

Fair Preview

Johnson opened his talk to the group with a few vital statistics of the great future event. He explained the theme of the entire man's achievements in an expanding universe. It is expected that 80 million persons will visit the Fair during its 360 viewing days, April 22, 1964 through Oct. 18, 1964 not reopening until April 21, 1965 and then closing for the completion of the viewing Oct. 17, 1965. During this viewing time it is estimated that the average person attending the event will walk 12.5 miles and that a minimum of 96 hours will be required for a hasty tour of an one billion dollar event.

G. ALAN JOHNSON

There will be 60 eating places in the Fair and it is estimated that 36 million hamburgers and 5,500 miles of hotdogs will be consumed along with an estimated eight and one-half million gallons of beer and soda.

Johnson started the Lions and their wives on their pictorial tour of the Fair with slides of the 60-foot high Astral Fountain and the Unisphere which are the symbols of the fair, and said that magic seems to be a part and parcel of such a gigantic undertaking to bring 45 countries, over half the states, and 300 companies together with one central purpose — to promote "Peace Through Understanding" and to emphasize "Man's Achievements in an Expanding Universe."

"Mode of transportation to attend the Fair will not be a problem; just choose one," he said. If you travel by boat you'll have the World's Fair Marina at your disposal and as you enter you pass a modernized and expanded La Guardia Airport. Helicopter travelers will land on the Fairground at the New York Authority's Helioport which serves Idlewild, La Guardia and Newark Airport. The Helioport is open now for those who wish to take an advance trip to the Fair. There are dining facilities at the top of the structure, which will enable all to get a good view of the Fair. There are also bus, subway service and the Long Island Railroad lines to get to the Fair. Johnson stated, "You'll be able to get there easily enough with the new $125 million highway network surrounding the Fair.

Five Principal Areas

Johnson explained there are five principal exhibit areas consisting of the International Area, the Federal-States Area, the Industrial Area, Transportation Area and the Lake Amusement Center Area.

One of the most exciting sites is of course the Unisphere which is the symbol of the Fair. This 14-story high world globe, from the Court of the President of the United States, surrounded by multi-colored national flags and rows of spectacular fountains will be a permanent fixture in Flushing Meadows Park for generations to come. Other interesting exhibits in this area are the pavilion of Thailand which is only one of 11 Asiatic countries exhibiting at the Fair. The Thailand building is a reproduction of Bangkok's famous Buddhist temple, the Marble Wat. The four-story building of the Republic of China is exhibiting a Pagoda-like structure and will house oriental art exhibits and gift shops featuring jade for the ladies, tapestry, painting and sculpture. The Pavilion of Pakistan will have a massive agricultural scene on its face done in Pakistani native mosaic style. For architecture of Islamic design one should visit the Sudan Pavilion and they would be reminded of ancient religious mosques seen by the Crusaders of old and exhibits of Sudanese art. As a must for the art lovers is the Vatican Pavilion where Michelangelo's famous sculpture, the Pieta will be on display.

This famous and most precious sculpture is being exhibited for the first time outside Rome where it was placed in St. Peter's Basilica in 1550. All the world's major religions will take part in the fair. Russian and Greek Orthodoxy, Islam, Buddhism the Synagogue Council of America and others. The Protestant Center will feature a history of the Protestant movement throughout the world. Europe will not only be represented by the Vatican Pavilion: many nations such as Greece, Sweden, Austria, West Germany, Ireland, Spain and Switzerland will have pavilions or exhibits. So far as the Western Hemisphere is concerned, 14 countries will be found in this international area such as the Pavilion of Mexico which is built of specially imported Mexican stone with a guarded entrance of huge sculptures, reminiscent of Aztec culture.

Federal States Area

The Federal Pavilion, which is part of the Court of States will be a most exciting visit for you. This multi-million dollar structure, approved by President Kennedy, is dedicated to the theme, Challenge to Greatness. The 65-foot high building is as long as a football field and has exterior walls made of multi-colored glass which reflects sunlight during the day and glows with interior illumination at night. There are state pavilions to see such as the Missouri Pavilion with Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis along with space capsules of today and the future. The Multiple pavilions of New England combine six states with such exhibits as a fish hatchery, a country store for unique hunters. There are 21 pavilions representing New Jersey's 21 counties with the most unusual construction that it creates the impression, especially at night that the roofs to all 21 of the pavilions are floating in air. The New York State Pavilion, which stands out as the highest point, has three observation towers that are 60, 150 and 200 feet high. The theme of the Pavilion is "Country Fair of Tomorrow." There is a theatre in the pavilion that will house fashion shows, concerts and numerous other events. New York City's contribution to the fair is The Hall of Science which will be a permanent fixture in Flushing Meadows Park. This pavilion will house exciting displays including Project Rendezvous and a plan for joining two space capsules in orbit. Built for the 1939 World's Fair, the New York City Building will offer Dick Buttons' Ice Revue and a scale model of the city's five boroughs showing 880,000 distinct buildings.

Industrial Section

Johnson explained the Pool of Industry, which is a mammoth water display. The "Floating Wing," which is the pavilion of the Bell System, covers 100,000 square feet of land rising from only four base supports. It seems as if the pavilion is floating space and in the "Wing Pavilion" you take a contour chair ride through 50 different scenes showing the history and the future of communications. You'll also be able to see how your voice is carried on land, on the ocean floor, and winging through space by means of a satellite like Telstar. The theme of the "Wing Pavilion" is "With communications comes understanding, with understanding comes peace." The IBM Pavilion, with a slanting wall that will actually disappear with you. You'll sit inside the wall, in tiers, and the whole thing will rise into the egg-shaped dome," the speaker said. Inside one dome you'll see computers and information machines on a grand scale. General Electric's Progressland Pavilion delves into the mysteries of atomic energy with a live demonstration of atomic fusion. In the area of chemistry, DuPont will have a pavilion with Nylon, Patina and synthetics of every variety on display as part of the history of DuPont's contribution to health, culture and the economy.

The Festival of Gas promises to be a cool oasis. This Pavilion will provide delicious food, cooked with gas naturally and served while visitors sit beside a bubbling brook in a gracious restaurant. There will be a World Food Pavilion with a supermarket of the future, a miracle kitchen and even culinary art seminars. Then there are such pavilions as the Pavilion of Interiors, the Better Living Pavilion and the Hall of Education Pavilion which will exhibit the School of Tomorrow as well as contemporary educationa' tools and no doubt the value of the complex human brain will be highlighted. National Cash Register Pavilion with its theme "Automation" will exhibit computors of all sizes and types. This building will be dismantled when the Fair is over and will be taken to National Cash Register's home in Ohio where it will house part of the company's Research and Development Center. The Electric Power and Light Pavilion which looks like a multi-colored crystal palace will be a most exciting site. It will be built around constantly changing colors day and night with one of the strongest man-made light beams in the world, extending straight up into the air. The Kodak Pavilion is unique; re-creating a possible moon surface. The large tower will display giant transparencies and will house a theater capable of handling 30,000 visitors per day. Traveler's Insurance Company exhibits the Red Umbrella of Protection Pavilion and illustrates man's increasing ability to overcome the perils that have threatened his survival from the Stone Age to the Space Age. There will be a Coca Cola Pavilion for the "Zing, what a feeling" which will be played in bells. The Pepsi Cola Pavilion will sport a water-ride designed by Walt Disney which takes visitors around the world as seen through child's eyes, and the proceeds of this entertainment will go to the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

Transportation Area

Those dinosaurs which passed down the Hudson River recently were on the way to Sinclair Dinoland. Entering the gates of Dinoland will be like stepping back 230 million years where life-sized dinosaurs will come to life. General Motors Pavilion will be another journey into the spectacular for visitors with the largest and most elaborate exhibit ever constructed by one company or nation. It is surrounded by four reflecting pools. This 240,000 square foot structure will house a continuous show, capable of being viewed by 72,000 visitors daily. Visitors will see what transportation will be like in the year 2065, 100-years from now. Ford Motor Pavilion will deal with the present, past and future of transportation on their site which will consist of some seven acres of land. Visitors will ride through a special Walt Disney show in your choice of convertibles — Lincoln, Mercury, Fords, Falcons or Thunderbirds.

Greyhound says "Leave the Driving to Us" and they mean it. They will supply buses, tractor trains and personal escorter cars so that visitors may see the Fair in comfort. Prefer an aerial view, well there is the Swiss Sky Ride or the Monorail, a prototype of future transportation for you commuters.

John Ringling North's continental one-ring circus will be a thriller for all to see. The Schaefer Center will give the option of a Gay Nineties Restaurant or an old time Beer Garden or the Restaurant of Tomorrow for relaxation. Polynesian Food, of course will be at the Hawaiian Pavilian surrounded by erupting volcanos and sleepy lagoons. Visitor may eat and watch a Hawaiian floorshow, complete with Hula dancers.

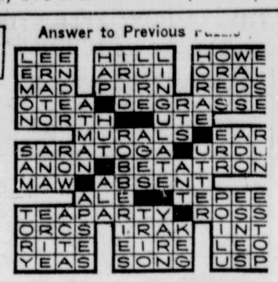

Johnson closed his talk by quoting Robert Moses, president of the World's Fair Corporation; "Future historians will fix the New York World's Fair of 1964-65 as the dividing line between the Age of Discovery and the Age of Invention, between the shrinking globe and the expanding universe."

Marlboro Rejects School Site Bond

Voters of the Marlboro Central School District on Wednesday rejected by a better than two to one vote a $65,000 bond issue proposed for acquirement of a site for a new junior-senior high school.

School officials told The Freeman a total of 1,390 taxpayers cast ballots and the vote was 925 against, 438 in favor of the proposition and 27 ballots were void.

Albert E. Milliken, Kingston architect, has been engaged by the Marlboro school board to design a building to provide for 800 to 1,000 students.

It was reported the school district officials may conduct a survey in an effort to find another site which might be approved.

The property under consideration, which resulted in defeat yesterday, is located on Reservoir Road about a mile and a half west of the village just off Lattintown Road. The site consists of more than 35 acres, including three parcels known as the Nicklin-Brat-Pizzo site.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that there has been duly presented and introduced before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, New York, on November 9, 1963, Local Law No. 1 of the year 1963 entitled as "A LOCAL LAW TO PROVIDE FOR THE CONTINUITY OF GOVERNMENT OF THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK IN THE EVENT OF AN ATTACK OR PUBLIC DISASTER."

Section 1. Intent. The New York state defense emergency act, in section twenty-nine-a thereof, authorizes political subdivisions of the state to provide for the continuity of their governments in the event of an actual or imminent attack upon the United States by an enemy or foreign nation. The general municipal law, in section sixty thereof, authorizes political subdivisions to provide for the continuity of their governments in the event of other public disasters, catastrophes or emergencies. Based on the authority contained in such laws this local law is adopted so that on such occasions the government of the county of Ulster, New York, may continue to function properly and efficiently under emergency circumstances.

Section 2. Definitions. As used in this local law the following terms shall mean and include:

a. "Attack." Any attack, actual or imminent, or series of attacks by an enemy or foreign nation upon the United States causing, or which may cause, substantial damage or injury to civilian property or persons in the United States in any manner by sabotage or by the use of bombs, shell fire, or nuclear, radiological, chemical, bacteriological, or biological means or other weapons or processes.

b. "Public Disaster." A disaster, catastrophe or emergency, actual or imminent, of such unusual proportions or extent that (1) a substantial number of the residents of the county of Ulster either sustain injury, become ill, are infected with disease have their lives imperiled, are killed or die as the result of injury, disease or exposure, or the property of a substantial number of such residents is imperiled, damaged, or destroyed, and (2) it is necessary and essential in the interest of public safety, health and welfare that the continuity of the government of the county of Ulster be assured in order that it be enabled to function properly and efficiently and to exercise its essential powers in meeting emergency conditions. Such disasters, catastrophes and emergencies may include, but shall not be limited to, conflagrations, explosions, earthquakes or other convulsions of nature, floods, tidal waves, pestilence, riots, insurrections, storms, prolonged failure of electric power or essential transportation services, or any incident or occurrence which causes or threatens to cause danger to life, health or property from exposure to noxious materials or radiation.

c. "Duly authorized deputy." A person authorized to perform all the powers and duties of a public office in the event the office is vacant or at such times as it lacks administration due to the death, absence or disability of the incumbent officer, where such authorization is provided pursuant to the provisions of any general, special, or local law other than this local law.

d. "Emergency interim successor." A person designated pursuant to this local law for possible temporary succession to the powers and duties, but not the office, of a county officer in the event that neither such officer nor any duly authorized deputy is able, due to death, absence from the county, or other physical, mental, or legal reasons, to perform the powers and duties of the office.

Section 3. Designation, status, qualifications and terms of designation of emergency interim successors. a. Elective officers. Within thirty days following the effective date of this local law, and thereafter within thirty days after first entering upon the duties of his office, each elective officer shall, in addition to any duly authorized deputy, designate such number of emergency interim successors to the powers and duties of his office and specify their rank in order of succession after any duly authorized deputy so that there will be not less than three duly authorized deputies or emergency interim successors, or combination thereof, to perform the powers and duties of the office.

b. Appointive officers. Each officer or body of officers empowered by law to appoint officers shall within the time specified in subdivision a of this section, in addition to any duly authorized deputy, designate for each such appointive officer such number of emergency interim successors to such officers and specify their rank in order of succession after any duly authorized deputy so that there will be not less than three duly authorized deputies or emergency interim successors, or combination thereof, for each such officer. Where such a body of officers consists of members having overlapping terms, such body of officers shall review and, as necessary, revise the previous designations of emergency interim successors by such board within thirty days after a new member elected or appointed to such body of officers first enters upon the duties of his office as a member of such body of officers.

c. Review of designations. The incumbent in the case of those elective officers specified in subdivision a of this section, and the appointing officer or body of officers specified in subdivision b of this section shall from time to time review and, as necessary, promptly revise the designations of emergency interim successors to insure that at all times there are at least three duly authorized deputies or emergency interim successors, or combination thereof, for each elective and appointive officer of the county.

d. Qualifications. No person shall be designated to, nor serve as, an emergency interim successor unless he is legally qualified to hold the office of the person to whose powers and duties he is designated to succeed.

e. Status of emergency interim successor. A person designated as an emergency interim successor shall hold that designation at the pleasure of the designator and such a designation shall remain effective until replaced by another by the authorized designator.

f. Compensation. An emergency interim successor shall serve without salary, unless otherwise provided by local law. He shall, however, be entitled to reimbursement for actual expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of his powers and duties.

Section 4. Assumption of powers and duties of officer by emergency interim successor. If, in the event of an attack or a public disaster, an officer described in subdivision a or subdivision b of section three of this local law or his duly authorized deputy, if any, is unable, due to death, absence from the county, or other physical, mental, or legal reasons, to perform the powers and duties of the office, the emergency interim successor of such officer highest in rank in order of succession who is able to perform the powers and duties of the office shall, except for the power and duty to discharge or replace duly authorized deputies and emergency interim successors of such officer, perform the powers and duties of such officer. An emergency interim sucessor shall perform such powers and duties only until such time as the lawful incumbent officer or his duly authorized deputy, if any, resumes the office or undertakes the performance of the powers and duties of the office, as the case may be, or until, where an actual vacancy exists, a successor is duly elected or appointed to fill such vacancy and qualifies as provided by law.

Section 5. Recording and publication of designations. The name, address and rank in order of succession of each duly authorized deputy and emergency interim successor shall be filed with the county clerk and each designation, replacement, or change in order of succession of any emergency interim successor shall become effective when the designator files with such clerk the successor's name, address and rank in order of succession. Such clerk shall keep an up-to-date file of all such data regarding duly authorized deputies and emergency interim successors and the same shall be open to public inspection. The clerk shall notify in writing each designated person of the filing of his name as an emergency interim successor and his rank in order of succession and also shall notify in writing any person previously designated who is replaced or whose place in order of succession is changed.

Section 6. Qualifications for taking office. At the time of their designation, or as soon thereafter as possible, emergency interim successors shall take such oath and do such other things, if any, as may be required to qualify them to perform the powers and duties of the office to which they may succeed.

Section 7. Quorum and vote requirements. In the event of an attack or a public disaster the chairman or his duly authorized deputy or emergency interim successor performing his powers and duties, may suspend quorum requirements for the board of supervisors, if quorum requirements are suspended, any local law, ordinance, resolution, or other action requiring enactment, adoption or approval by an affirmative vote of a specified proportion of members may be enacted, adopted or approved by the affirmative vote of the specified proportion of those voting thereon.

Section 8. Separability clause. If any section, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this local law shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof but shall be confined in its operation to the section, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase or portion thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

Section 9. Effective date. This local law shall take effect upon its adoption and the filing of one certified copy thereof with the county clerk, one certified copy in the office of the state comptroller and three certified copies in the office of the secretary of state.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the Civil Defense Committee of the said Board of Supervisors will conduct a public hearing on the aforesaid proposed Local Law at the Supreme Court Room on the second floor of the Ulster County Court House, Kingston, New York, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. on 21st day of November 1963, at which time all persons interested will be heard.

Dated: November 12, 1963.

Leaving Ambassador Post for Brazil Politics

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Robert de Oliveira Campos says he is quitting his post as Brazilian ambassador to the United States and will return home to go into politics.

But, Campos told reporters Wednesday, he has no designs on the presidency of Brazil. He said he was a supporter of the current president, Joao Goulart.

Campos said he hopes to enter the Brazilian Congress "in a couple of years" and would return to teaching and writing, meanwhile.

The ambassador came here Wednesday to address a World Trade Market Conference sponsored by the Greater Albany Chamber of Commerce.

After his formal address, he held an impromptu news conference at which he said he had submitted his resignation as ambassador three months ago. He said he expected it would be accepted formally within the next few days.

In his conference speech, Campos said elimination of trade barriers by the United States could do more than foreign aid to stimulate the Latin American economy.

Hudson Student Fails, Shoots Self; Verdict Withheld

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Alan Morrow Bliss, 18, came home from school Wednesday, told his stepmother he had failed all his courses, walked into his bedroom and shot himself in the stomach with a shotgun, State Police said.

Bliss, of (Route 66) Hudson, was pronounced dead on arrival Wednesday night at Columbia Memorial Hospital. Wednesday was his 18th birthday.

Coroner Frank Palmer is withholding a verdict.

Police gave this account of the youth's death:

Bliss, who was a junior at Hudson High School, brought his report card home Wednesday and told his stepmother — Mrs. Lisa Blisss — that he had failed all his subjects.

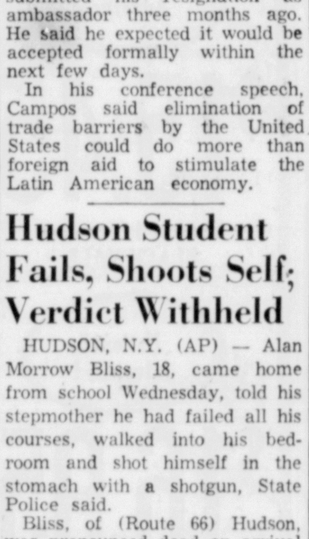

He walked into his bedroom, shut the door and tied one end of a nylon cord to the doorknob and the other end to the trigger of the shotgun.

Bliss then placed the gun against his abdomen and pulled the trigger.

His body was found by his stepmother and grandmother.

Admits Trysts With Attorney

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A petite mother of three has testified in the trial of T. Eugene Thompson on a murder charge that she had an illicit relationship with the defendant.

Jackie Okoneski Olesen testified Wednesday about trips to hotels and motels in other cities with Thompson over a period of years.

Prosecutor William Randall claims Thompson engineered the murder of his wife, Carol, 34, for the love of Mrs. Olesen and for the more than $1 million insurance he took out on his wife's life during the 13 months preceding her death last March 6. Thompson, 35, a St. Paul attorney, is charged with first degree murder.

Mrs. Olesen said she met Thompson in 1957 when she was a witness in a divorce case. She said she again met him in 1958 when she started a divorce action against her first husband.

Preceding her on the stand was her estranged second husband, Ronald Olesen. He said he had telephoned the Thompson home and, in the absence of Thompson, had told Mrs. Thompson to tell her husband that "I was tired of him bothering my wife and that if he did not quit it I was going to try to get him some way—legallly or physically—to stop him."

On cross examination, Mrs. Olesen said she had broken off with Thompson in 1962 after he had told her ne never intended to marry her.

Rocky Carries '64 Bid Before Labor Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, carrying his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination before the AFL-CIO and its 13.5 million members, said today that creating more jobs is the nation's "first order of business."

Fears Jobless More

The New York governor's call for a tax cut tied to strict control of federal spending fell largely on deaf ears at the opening session of the labor organization's convention.

The policy-making Executive Council has let it be known the AFL-CIO fears unemployment far more than federal deficits.

Rockefeller proposed a national job information and placement program, including loans for jobless workers to move where they could find employment.

His remarks were in a prepared address.

He spoke as the convention prepared to consider resolutions demanding a $10-billion tax cut, a drastic measure in the minimum wage, a 35-hour week and a broad range of federal programs to provide jobs for the nation's 3.5 million unemployed.

Addresses Editors

Rockefeller came to the AFL-CIO convention from Miami Beach, where he told a meeting of the Associated Presss Managing Editors Association Wednesday that he wants to be president so he can return the United States to the principles on which it was built.

In an obvious attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, his leading potential opponent for the GOP nomination, Rockefeller emphasized that he, unlike the senator, opposes any federal right-to-work law.

Goldwater has introduced legislation to ban union shop agreements, under which a worker must join the union after being hired. Twenty states already have such right-to-work laws.

Charge Highland Women of Thefts At Hudson Plaza

Accused of stealing $82 worth or merchandise from the Montgomery Ward store in Hudson Plaza, South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie, Wednesday, two Highland women were arrested on charges of petit larceny.

Town Police Lt. John Brown identified the defendants as Mildred Guadagna, 34, of Reservoir Road, and Eva Marioles, 47, of Tucker's Corners Road, both of Highland.

The women pleaded guilty before Town Justice of the Peace Donald Holden, and each was fined $25.

Lt. Brown said the arrests were made on complaint of Security Officer Burtis Vleming, a former Poughkeepsie patrolman, who accused the defendants of leaving the store with merchandise, including a ladies tweed suit, valued at $82. The merchandise was recovered, police said.

Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, 55, governor of New York State, corporation executive, scion of one of the nation's richest families, has formally entered the contest for the Republican Party's 1964 presidential nomination. Photographs here recall moments in his early life before he entered politics and government service.

Capital News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

JUNK MAIL: The House has apparently won a round in its fight with the Senate over junk mail.

The House passed Wednesday and sent back to the Senate — for expected approval—a compromise measure to appropriate $168.3 million to finance Congress and other Capitol Hill agencies for the year ending June 30.

The bill had been hung up since last June because the Senate refused to accept a provision permitting House members to send mail addressed simply to "occupant."

The House felt the Senate was overstepping itself in rejecting the provision.

The compromise would allow representatives to use their free-mail privilege to send the mail but would not give the right to the Senate, which didn't want it anyway.

VIET NAM AID: Full economic aid to South Viet Nam will not begin flowing again until after further talks with the new Saigon government, a State Department official said Wednesday.

Parts of the program have been approved, he said. But other phases of the surplus-commodity program will require renegotiation of contracts.

Economic aid had been throttled down in a U.S. effort to force the old Diem regime to ease repressions against Buddhists.

The aid program had been running in excess of $500 million a year.

SPACE MONEY: The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved $5.19 billion for the nation's space program with a proviso none of the money is used for joint U.S.-Russia moon venture without Congress' approval.

The appropriation was included in a $13.34-billion bill providing funds for 24 government agencies.

BLACK WATCH: To the skirl of bagpipes, a detachment of Britain's plaid - kilted Black Watch regiment paraded on the White House lawn Wednesday for the First Family and 1,700 underprivileged Washington children.

As the Kennedys and their two children watched from the balcony, the touring Highlanders marched and spun through flings and sword dances.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's first public appearance at the executive mansion since the premature birth and death of her son, Patrick, last August.

"K" has changed its shape less than any other letter in the history of the alphabet, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Aircraft Crashed Purposely In Flight Tests for Safety

By ROBERT K. WALKER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ten large military helicopters have crashed at the Deeer Valley Airport north of Phoenix in the past three years.

Within six months, two four-engine transports probably will smash into a nearby mountainside.

Done on Purpose

Neither poor pilots, faulty aircraft nor sabotage is to blame.

It's done on purpose by the Aviation Safety Engineering and Research Division of Flight Safety Foundation, Inc. The object is to find out what causes injuries in aircraft crashes, and to test equipment designed to minimize such injuries.

The division began crashing helicopters in 1960 under a contract with the U.S. Army Transportation Research Command. The experiment with transports, tentatively scheduled for February and March, will be done under contract from the Federal Aviation Agency.

On Way as Junk

"The aircraft we are crashing are obsolete and on their way to the junk yard," says division manager Victor E. Rothe. "We have to dig up parts to make some of them work."

Rothe says that information gathered from the tests has resulted in safety modifications for helicopters being flown in South Viet Nam.

Inside the helicopters are instruments, dummies, standard equipment and experimental devices designed by the division. Manufacturers also may have new designs aboard.

"Fire is the big killer in crashes," Rothe says. "If you can reduce and prevent injuries, persons have a greater chance to escape once the whole thing has come to a screeching halt.

"We feel that as long as there is living space within the aircraft, the crash is survivable.

"'Our emphasis is in what causes injury to people in crashes. You always end up with hardware—something involved in the design of aircraft.'"

In addition to the tests, the organization also investigates about 30 military, private and commercial crashes each year.

The non-profit research organization began in 1942 at Cornell University. When the division moved to Phoenix in 1957 it had only a few employes. Now there are 52.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide range of main course attractions — including beef, pork and fowl — are vying for shoppers' favor at the nation's supermarkets this weekend.

Beef sales continue to brighten prospects at many shops as fed cattle flow to market. One national chain offers these specials at its New York area outlets: boneless top and bottom round roasts, 88 cents a pound; rib roasts, 69 cents; boneless chuck, 69 cents.

In the Midwest, rump roasts and a variety of boneless roasts are especially attractive in price.

Pork selections are broad, with Midwestern shops stressing fresh hams and Boston butts while loin roasts are leaders in the Northeast.

Broiler-fryer chickens are economical features in almost all regions.

Fresh produce counters offer beets, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, onions, radishes, squash and sweet potatoes.

Fall fruit attractions include a widening selection of apples, with both red and golden delicious varieties coming into season along with Red Romes, Cortlands and McIntosh.

Other fruit items include avocadoes, cranberries, bananas, grapefruit, grapes and, regionally, oranges, pears, tangerines and lemons.

matter of Fact

No true nightingale is found in America, though the American thrush is a close relative. Both male and female nightingales are of drab coloration, reddish-brown above and greyish-white below. Only the male sings, and he does so at all hours of the day and night for several weeks after returning north from winter quarters.

Attacks Canada's Trusteeship Law

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department has endorsed a report calling for a wide-ranging attack on Canada' maritume union trusteeship law.

The report, approved unanimously Wednesday at the department's final session of its three-day convention, includes a protest to the United Nations and a selective boycott of Canadian goods and services.

The trusteeship was imposed last month on the Seafarers International Union of Canada and four other unions.

The report calls for efforts to obtain action against the trusteeship within the International Labor Organization and urged "such economic actions as may be deemed advisable."

The department embraces 29 national and international unions with a membership of 450,000.

Marchi to Hold Public Hearing OnOff-TrackBets

NEW YORK (AP) — A committee of the Republican-controlled State Senate will hold a public hearing on the proposal for off-track betting on horse races as soon as the plan is prepared.

Sen. John J. Marchi, Staten Island Republican and chairman of the senate's Committee on the Affairs of the City of New York, promises "the broadest opportunity for the presentation of arguments" on both sides.

The off-track betting proposal was approved by New York City voters 3-to-1 in an advisory referendum held in connection with the Nov. 5 general election.

Marchi's announcement came a few days after Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, majority leader of the senate and a foe of off-track betting, promised to give the city's plan "'long and mature" consideration in the Legislature.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some movie projects are destined to be legendary because of the personalities and circumstances of their filming. "The Misfits" was one of those.

Everything concerning the film combined for drama. The king of movie stars, Clark Gable, found himself surrounded by the new crop of actors, whose method he could not understand. A believer in strict professionalism, he was co-starred with Marilyn Monroe, who was incapable of being on time.

The script was a love letter by Arthur Miller to Marilyn, who was about to end their marriage. For Gable it was a time of personal joy; he learned he was to become a father for the first time.

Ten days after "The Misfits" was completed, Gable was dead of a heart attack. A year and a half later, Marilyn died of a pill overdose.

The day-to-day drama of the filming is captured in "The Story of the Misfits," a new book by James Goode, a magazine writer who observed the project at close hand from beginning to end.

Some highlights:

Marilyn established the pattern of behavior on her arrival at the Reno location. She was 30 minutes late in getting off the plane.

The first question asked each day by the film troupe: "Is Marilyn working today?" Gable, commenting on the interminable delays: "You'll probably see a lot of fire and smoke before we're through with this picture." He recalled that Jean Harlow was always punctual and addded, "In those days when stars were late, they were fired."

Director John Huston: "We get so little done. It's unthinkable for an actor not to start at 9 in the morning." Marilyn never appeared before 10:30.

"The Misfits" finally finished after 90 shoooting days and $4 million, 40 days and a half-milllion over what was planned. It was a commercial failure. But it will long live in Hollywood legend.

In total darkness, the pupil of the eye is about 40 times larger than it is in dim light.

24 Surviving Salt Babies Are Okay, Pediatrician Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-four babies who survived the accidental substitution of common table salt in their formulas at Binghamton, N.Y., General Hospital 18 months ago are not suffering any after-effects, says a pediatrician.

However, six infants died as a result of the substitution, which became evident on March 9, 1962.

Dr. Laurence Finberg, chief of pediatrics at Montefiore Hospital, told the Bronx Academy of Pediatrics Wednesday night that the surviving babies are suffering no after-effects.

Grants Are Announced To Help Public Works

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal government agencies have announced grants totaling $27,000 to help Upstate New York communities plan public works projects and a $51,344 grant to assist in developing a subregion of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Community Facilities Administration said Wednesday it had allocated $11,000 to Stockport, Columbia County, to help plan a $458,000 water - supply project and $16,000 to Oakfield, Genesee County, for a $308,000 sewer project.

The Urban Renewal Administration announced the $51,344 grant, which will go to the State Commerce Department to assist in developing the subregion. It comprises the towns of Alexandria, Cape Vincent, Clayton, Lyme and Orleans, all in Jefferson County.

Only 34 Per Cent Participation in State

Many County Chiefs Passed Up Chance to Give Boost to Rocky

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Nearly two-thirds of the Republican county chairmen in New York State passed up a recent chance to give Gov. Rockefeller an unofficial boost in his bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

All 62 of the state's county chairmen were asked by the Associated Press to say who would be the party's strongest candidate and who was likely to get the nomination.

15 As Strongest

The poll, part of a national sounding, produced only 15 expressions of support for Rockefeller as the strongest candidate and 12 as the likely nominee.

In the "strongest" category, four chose Sen. Barry Goldwater and two chose Richard M. Nixon. Goldwater was seen as the likely winnner by three chairmen, Nixon by two. Sen. Thruston B. Morton, former GOP national chairman, also drew two votes as a prospective compromise candidate.

Two chairmen declined to fill in ballots on the ground it was too early for such judgments and 39 did not respond.

The 21 replies represented 34 per cent participation, compared with 47 per cent nationally.

Barry Strongest U.S.-Wide

In the countrywide returns, Goldwater emerged as the strongest candidate in the view of 85.1 per cent of the leaders and as the likely nominee in the view of 64.2 per cent.

Additional pro-Rockefeller replies from New York State would have made no appreciable difference in the standings.

But nine additional votes as the most likely nominee would have put Rockefeller second in that category with 73 votes, instead of third, with 64 to Nixon's 72. The gain might have beeen small consolation in view of Goldwater's 901 votes in that test.

The New York State replies came largely from rural and other small counties. Only three of the 21 counties from which replies were received produced more than 50,000 votes for the Republican ticket in 1960.

Longest Name Theory

One chairman came up with a political - forecasting device that, on examination, seems to offer unique possibilities.

"My wife says you could save the cost of polls by remembering that the candidate with the longest name wins the presidency," he wrote.

Let's see—Kennedy beat Nixon, Eisenhower twice beat Stevenson (10 letters vs. 9, a close one); Truman beat Dewey, Roosevelt beat Dewey, Wilkie, Landon and Hoover; Hoover beat Smith. . .

Rockefeller (11 letters) is now opposing Goldwater (9) for the nomination to challenge Kennedy (only 7).

The longest-name theory is in for a rugged test next year.

To Reduce Spying

11PC of Nation Off Limits To Soviets and Other Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to curb spying, the United States has put some 11 per cent of the country off limits to envoys of Soviet satellite nations.

In the past, these diplomats were allowed to travel freely.

The new orders, explained in diplomatic notes Tuesday, also kept in force travel restrictions on Soviet citizens, although some new areas were opened and others closed.

About 26 per cent of the country is off limits to Russian travelers—and a like percentage of Russia is off limits to American travelers.

The new restrictions—which don't apply to tourists—came after the Defense Department insisted that the travel of various diplomatic representatives of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria be restricted.

The U.S. counties listed as off cials argued, were flagrantly peering about in sensitive, military areas and probably feeding information to Russia whose own envoys are barred from the areas.

The U.S. counties listed as offf limits in the notes were carefully selected after several months of argument between the Defense and State departments.

The State Department is understood to have wanted to drop all restrictions on diplomats from the satellites to encourage them to see and understand the United States.

In the past, representatives of Hungary and Romania had to give advance notification of travel beyond Washington and New York, even though there were no areas forbidden to them. Under the new regulations they no longer have to give this prior notice.

As for the Soviet Union, the regulations only revise a 1961 list of closed areas, opening up some which were formerly closed and closing others, but keeping the total off-limits area at approximately 26 per cent of the United States.

Every state but Delaware has at least one county closed to the Russians.

The only Russians exempted from the restrictions are those employed by the U.N. Secretariat and visitors under the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program.

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Nov. 14, the 318th day of 1963. There are 47 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1889, New York World reporter Nellie Bly departed New York in an attempt to better the record established by Jules Verne's hero in "Around the World in 80 days." She turned the trick with time to spare — 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes.

On this date:

In 1864, Gen. William T. Sherman began his march to the sea after burning Atlanta during the Civil War.

In 1941, the Los Angeles area was shaken by earthquakes which caused $1 million damage.

In 1948, Prince Charles was born to Princess Elizabeth — now Queen Elizabeth II of England — and her husband, Prince Philip.

Ten years ago—During a visit to Ottawa, President Eisenhower told Canadians the United States would cooperate fully in guarding the Western Hemisphere in surprise atomic attack.

Five years ago—Russian soldiers detained three U.S. Army trucks for more than eight hours at a Soviet checkpoint on the autobahn outside Berlin.

New Highway Link

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The toll-free Taconic State Parkway will be linked to the State Thruway's Berkshire section Nov. 25 with the opening of a 16-mile extension of the parkway.

The new segment, at the parkway's northern end, will join the Taconic to the Thruway at the toll road's B-2 interchange in Columbia County.

The southern end of the 105-mile long Taconic is at Valhalla, Westchester County.

Wool Marketers Advised to Keep Adequate Records

Wool growers who market their wool in the fall should remember to keep adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program, according to E. M. Wood, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ulster County Committee.

A sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number of and liveweight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn.

Chairman Wood also reminds growers that current marketing of wool and lambs through Dec. 31, will qualify for incentive payments under the wool program for the 1963 marketing year. In previous years the marketing year ended March 31. Beginning in 1964, the marketing year will be the calendar year.

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, supported by the required sales documents, with their ASCS county office as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed. While the final date to apply for payments on 1963 marketings will be Jan. 31 of next year, covering marketing of wool and lambs from April 1, 1963, through Dec. 31, 1963, application may be submitted at any time between now and then.

Wood said that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment. Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

Town Board Authorizes New Highway Department Garage

Acting on authority granted by the General Municipal Law dealing with emergency situations, the Woodstock Town Board has authorized Superintendent of Highways Albert C. Cashdollar to proceed with the construction of a concrete shop and garage to replace the town garage gutted by fire on Election Eve.

The board acted unanimously at a special meeting Tuesday night on a motion offered by Supervisor Molyneaux and seconded by Councilman Gottlob Wagner.

Board action followed a detailed report on a special meeting held with Superintendent Cashdollar at the site of the fire on Nov. 7.

The building will be 32 feet by 42 feet with a 12-foot ceiling and the cost is not to exceed the amount of insurance paid on the town garage fire, Supervisor Molyneaux in answer to questions said that a complete inventory of the damages caused by the Nov. 5 blaze was not yet available and the amount of insurance anticipated was not announced.

The supervisor indicated, however, that the insurance settlemen on the town garage fire will be ample and insurance on the equipment will cover the damages. Some will be repaired and renovated. The Walters Company has agreed on the loan of machinery while repairs are being made on the town vehicles.

Take Other Options

Superintendent Cashdollar was ordered by the board to use his best judgment in construction of the new building.

The board also agreed to take option on other lands on which to construct a permanent storage building. Supervisor Molyneaux appointed Councilman Wagner a committee of one to meet with Daniel Kleine, surveyor, to make a report on a project, including a permanent storage building, to meet all town needs for many years to come. The project would include cleaning up the debris at the present location, removal of the other building and complete site work.

The addition of the Oakley property adjacent to the present town garage area was discussed by Supervisor Molyneaux, who pointed out that acquisition of the property would insure 700-foot highway frontage and be adequate for town needs for many years.

Although Councilman William West, Jr. voted for the motion granting emergency authority, he said it was his opinion the board should look for a larger plot of land on a new site for town garage construction and development. He said it would make for a better long range plan.

Traffic Control

Supervisor Molyneaux alerted the board to a special meeting to be held when all information is collected relative to the placing of stop signs and speed warning signs in Woodstock Park-Witch Tree Road-VanDeBogart Road and other parts of Woodstock township.

Another meeting will be needed to authorize purchase of the signs and the enactment of regulations and ordinances relating to traffic control in the township.

The state has recommended the signs and 21 of the warning signs will be placed in the Witch Tree Road-VanDeBogart area. A stop sign was recently placed near the intersection of Witch Tree Road and VanDeBogart.

Personnel of the State Traffic Commission conducted a traffic survey in the Witch Tree area, which was described as unique because of winding roads.

Supervisor Molyneaux pointed out that County Superintendent of Highways Roland Green has some of the warning signs in his inventory and will make them available and assist the township in putting them up. The stop signs can be erected now, it was announced. The townwide ordinance and plans would also affect the Woodstock Gardens area where there has been public agitation for traffic control for the past four years.

Children's Painting Class by Brokenshaw

Painting classes for children, taught by Mrs. Louise Brokenshaw, will be held Monday, Nov. 18, at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, one week later than originally scheduled.

There are still places open in both the morning and afternoon sessions. Children may be enrolled in the sixweeks program by calling Mrs. David Clarkson. There is a nominal fee. The classes will meet once a week on Mondays.

Search Now on For Host Family By Onteora AFS

The search for a host family for a foreign student for the 1964-65 school year now has highest priority on the Onteora Chapter, AFS, Calendar.

Any family interested in sharing its home with the foreign student next year must have the following qualifications says the AFS:

1) A spirit of international goodwill; 2) A heart large enough to take in another child from another land; 3) A mind open to accepting his or her differences as well as similarities; 4) A share of laughter to mix with the everyday problems and to strengthen the bonds of communication; 5) all members of the family must want the student.

Parents should be over 37 and, if of foreign birth, should be in the United States since their 12th year. Parents should be able to provide housing, food, extras like lunch money, books, gym equipment and graduation expenses, if needed.

The student must have a bed of his own, may share room with a child over 15, but may not drive a car.

The foreign student, who can be either a boy or a girl between 16 and 18 years old and from one of 50 countries, will live with a family in the district for one year.

American Field Service provides ocean travel, all transportation to and from home; $14.00 a month allowance, plus medical care for accident or illness. AFS also makes the final selection of the U. S. family.

Parents interested in applying are asked to contact Mrs. Manuel Bromberg, Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahil of Mt. Tremper, the present Host Family, will be happy to answer questions.

Onteora Chapter AFS Lists Several Events

Robert Washburn, school advisor for the Onteora Chapter of the American Field Society, will be a guest on the Mary Margaret McBride program on Station WGHQ, Friday at 11 a. m. He will be accompanied by Sener Ozer, foreign student at OCS, and Richard Kahil, president of the Onteora Student Council.

Set Talent Show

The Student Talent Show for the benefit of the Onteora Chapter, AFS, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at the Woodstock Elementary school. This is the last of the area fund raising projects for the chapter. A large attendance is desired.

Contributions to the chapter may be made to Mrs. Ben Merch, Member of Finance, 87 Country Club Drive, Woodstock.

Pack 34 Awards Several Bobcat Pins to Boys

The largest number of boys to receive bobcat pins at a Pack meeting in the past several years were welcomed into Woodstock Pack 34 at Town Hall.

The new bobcats are: Sean Mulligan, Den 2; and James Reedy, Kevin Whispell, Dennis Kloepping and Gordon MacLeod, all of Den 6. All the bobcats were accompanied by their parents.

Awards presented during the night included: Karl Hastie, Wolf Badge and Bear Book; Mark Burns, Lion Book; Bruce Wilson, Wolf Badge; Billy Malloy, 1-year-pin; Bob Wilson Den Chief Cord.

A sound film was shown in place of the usual form of entertainment of skits. The film illustrated how sound, in the form of speech, emanates from one human being and how it is received by the auditory system of another human being. There were some remarkable sequences which showed the voice box in actual operation. The film explained how the voice box in association with the oral cavity and the tongue is able to produce different sounds.

A short film showing the cubs on their recent trip to the Dinosaur exhibition at Catskill and crossing the Hudson River on the Beacon - Newburgh ferry was shown before the end of the meeting.

Misty Bernard recently took the cubs of Den 2 on a trip to Hyde Park and the Vanderbilt mansion. This last item brings to mind the fact that the cubs are doing quite a bit of traveling this year. A suggestion by Mrs. Bernard, which was heartily endorsed by the Pack Leaders and the cubs, has led to this increased cub activity.

Science Forum To Be Sponsored By Growing Edge

A special seminar entitled "Where Is Science Leading Us?" will be presented by the Growing Edge of Woodstock, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 22-23. Guest lecturer for this two-night series will be Emily B. Sellon, Associate Editor of Main Currents in Modern Thought, the journal of the Foundation for Integrative Education.

The seminar will be open to the public and will be limited to about 40 persons in order to keep it to a discussion group size. It will cover a historical and philosophical survey of the effects of science on man's understanding of his world and himself, with emphasis on the unexpected direction of more recent scientific findings, particularly in their treatment of field theory and the reality of the non-material.

The ethical and social implications of the new science will be considered, as well as the consequent breakdown of so-called "classical materialism." Two color sound films will be shown: "Unheard Melodies" and "Sense Perception."

Noted In Field

Mrs. Sellon has lectured and engaged in research work in national organizations developing study groups and syllabus material in the connections between Eastern and Western thought. She has also worked in an editorial capacity with such persons in the educational and scientific fields as Dr. Kirtley F. Mather, president of the Foundation for Integrative Education and Professor Emeritus of Geology, Harvard; and Dr. Henry Margenau, Director of Research of the Foundation and Dr. Higgins, Professor of Physics and Natural Philosophy, Yale. However, the seminar will be directed to laymen and no specialized knowledge of science is required.

The Growing Edge, which is sponsoring this seminar, is a group interested primarily in the field of parapsychology.

"The difficulty in making sense of the psychic field and making it workable is our inability to place it an understandable scientific framework. Until we come to grips with the future of science as it is now evolving, we will never be able to make sense and substance out of a field hoary with superstition and mostly lost to modern man," said Jim Orser, director of the Growing Edge.

Tickets for the two-night series are nominally priced. They may be ordered from the Growing Edge, 68-A Yerry Hill Road, Woodstock. With the tickets will be sent orientation materials and directions for reaching the meetings. Remittances should accompany orders for tickets and, if no more tickets are available, the remittances will be promptly returned.

TALENT SHOW flute solist Barbara Bouymaster who will participate in the variety sponsored by the Onteora Chapter of the American Field Service Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Woodstock school auditorium. The performance for the benefit of the Onteora chapter will be directed by Mrs. Paul Williams, with Andrew Shekitka as master of ceremonies.

A freight train motorman saw the objects ahead of his speeding train and stopped in time.

Would Nullify Election

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Charging vote fraud, civilian opponents of strongman Chung Hee Park have filed suit with the Supreme Court asking nullification of his election as president last month.

The Civil Rule party of Yun Po-sun, who narrowly lost the election, filed the suit. It claimed at least 320,000 votes cast for Yun had been either declared invalid or counted as votes for Park.

Park's winning margin was only 162,026 votes.

Pfc. John Carter and Pfc. Terry Farnsworth passed the word to their unit commander. By nightfall a volunteer drive had collected 500 pints of blood, with more Marines signing up to give.

Bishop Against Twist

HONOLULU (AP) — Mormon Bishop John H. Vandenberg has written to the Latter-Day Saints College of Hawaii that the twist is objectionable.

But he approved the Tahtian shimmy and the traditional hip-swinging Hawaiian, Fijian, Tongan and Maori dances at the school's Polynesian Institute.

Two Days That Shook Southeast Asia

In a carefully planned and precisely executed coup, the 9-year regime of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem was brought to a bloody end. Pictures below spotlight the course of events. The revolt began in midafternoon Friday, Nov. 1 (Saigon time), with a lightning attack by army and marine detachments stationed outside the capital. Equipped with American tanks and artillery, they quickly overwhelmed loyal troops in the city and siezed key centers. The rebels then besieged the presidential palace. Early Saturday morning, tanks began a bombardment. Two hours later, the revolt was over— 18 hours after it began. Among the casualties: President Diem and his much-feared brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, husband of the controversal Madame Nhu. The exact manner of their deaths was still in doubt as the military leaders of the coup set up a provisional government and asked for U.S. recognition.

Radio-telephoto taken at height of the revolt shows a Vietnamese marine atop a tank while flames and smoke pour out of building in background.

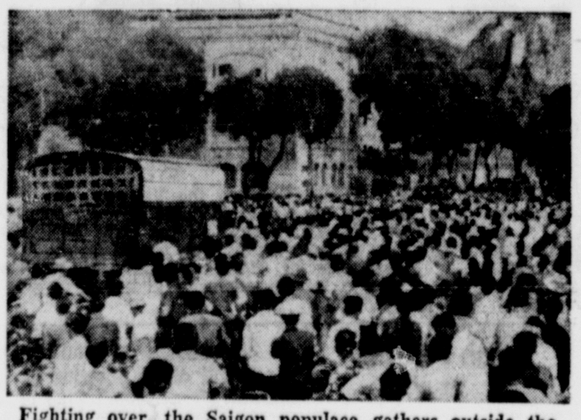

Rebel soldiers pass a shattered armored vehicle, mute testimony to the fierce fighting that took place on the first day of the revolt.

Greatest resistance to the rebels was put up by the palace guards protecting President Diem. Here they are forced to lie prone after surrendering.

The enemy vanquished on the second day, rebel marines await further orders as they group in front of the captured presidential palace.

Fighting over, the Saigon populace gathers outside the palace to cheer the violent end of the Ngo family's nine-year rule of South Viet Nam.

Crowd topples a statue said to resemble Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, who at the time of the coup was in the United States hard-selling the Diem regime.

Two days after the revolt a provisional government is formed. Named defense minister, Maj. Gen. Tran Van Don, right, is saluted by his troops.

Vietnamese soldiers stand in front of their U.S.-made MI-13 tanks before being decorated for their part in the bloody overthrow of Ngo Dinh Diem.

Meanwhile, the fight against Communist guerrillas goes on. SP4 Wallace E. Nesbitt, U.S. Army, installs machine guns on a helicopter prior to a recent action.

Calls '64 Decisive Year

Harkins Credits Diem With Good War Job on Reds

SAIGON, Vet Nam (AP) — The commander of U.S. military forces in South Viet Nam says the late President Ngo Dinh Diem lacked military training but did a good job of waging war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The Saigon coup will have little over-all effect on the conduct of the military campaign, Gen. Paul D. Harkins said Wednesday.

Talk of Recall

Leaders of the coup contend Diem never could have won the war. Critics of the old regime also charge that Harkins was too close to it, and there have been rumors that he might be withdrawn.

Asked for comment on the rumors, Harkins said in an interview:

"That decision is not up to me. Naturally, I would like to see this job through to the end."

(The New York Times said today in a dispatch from Washington that Harkins is slated to stay in his post beyond an expected two-year term ending in February.

(The Times quoted qualified sources as saying Harkins' active duty will be extended in June, when he reaches the normally mandatory retirement age of 60.)

Harkins predicted that 1964 would be the decisive year in the war.

Not Military Man

"Of course, it is not a question of a clear-cut victory over the Viet Cong, but of getting the situation enough under control that the Vietnamese can carry on and take care of things alone," he said.

Harkins said he felt Diem never "was really a military man."

"But he was bold," the general added. "Some of his military operations, when he was given good information, were very effective.

Defers Budget Action

Action on Dutchess County's 1964 record budget of $7,738,305 scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 19 has been deferred until Friday, Nov. 22 when the Board of Supervisors will meet. The session was postponed at the request of Town of Poughkeepsie Supervisor Thomas D. Mahar (D), who is one of the leading contenders for the post of chairman of the county board, which will be Democratic controlled for the first time in many years.

Milk Firms Get Show Cause on Price Increases

NEW YORK (AP)—State Supreme Court has ordered major milk companies and asssociations to show cause why they should not be enjoined from conspiring to increase milk prices illegally in the city.

The order, issued Wednesday by Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter, is returnable Nov. 19.

Hofstadter acted after James Dell Orto, owner of the Hero Boy restaurant, filed a motion to join in a suit filed previously by Robert B. Blaikie, a Democratic insurgent.

The industry agreed last month to a new contract providing for wage increases for its employes and said the increased costs would require a rise of at least one cent a quarter in the price of milk.

An affidavit said Orto contacted 54 milk dealers in an effort to change his supplier in March, 1962, but that he was turned down because of a monopoly. He asked $250,000 damages.

Blaikie, in his suit filed last Aug. 13, accused the industry of conspiring to fix the price at 28 cents a quarter. He said he filed the suit as a consumer and on behalf of "all others similarly situated."

Blaikie asked for $100,263—$100,000 in punitive damages and 263 in overcharges for daily purchases of two quarters of milk for his family.

Among the defendants are the Borden Co.; Pet Milk Co.; Daitch Crystal Dairies Inc.; Milk Dealers Association of Metropolitan New York Inc.; Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, and The Seal-Test Foods Division of National Dairy Products Corp.

Three of Family Suffer Burns in Poughkeepsie Fire

Two women and a child suffered burns Wednesday morning when fire of undetermined origin broke out in a residence at 19 Pershing Avenue, Poughkeepsie. Flames caused extensive damage to the frame house.

Occupants of the house taken to Vassar Hospital in the Arlington Fire Department ambulance were, Mrs. Betty Peterson, 85; her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Lowe, and James C. Bronson, 3, grandson, of Mrs. Lowe.

Police Chief John L. Martin said the fire apparently broke out in the living room on the first floor, where the boy was playing. The child apparently was trapped by the fire and smoke, and he cried for his grandmother, who groped her way through the smoke-filled room and carried the child outside.

Mrs. Peterson, who suffered second and third degree burns of the right side of her face and shoulders, was in bed when the fire started. She was rescued through a window by firemen.

Police said the boy suffered second degree burns of the entire body. He and Mrs. Paterson were reported in serious condition at the hospital.

Firemen in command of Chief Irving Merrick responded to an alarm at 8:42 a. m. and brought the flames under control in about a half hour. Firemen administered oxygen to Mrs. Peterson and the boy before they were taken to the hospital, authorities said.

Must Unite GOP After 1964 Bid, Nixon Declares

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon says the best role he could play in politics would be "to unite the party after the bloodletting" over the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

"It's getting very bloody," the former vice president told newsmen Wednesday.

Nixon reiterated that he is not a candidate for the nomination, and said:

"My role as I see it is to be a spokesman on great issues where I have something important to say and experience—and also to stay out of the fight within the Republican Party which must go on until the nomination so I can use my influence behind the candidate nominated. . ."

Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona are the leading contenders, although Goldwater hasn't formally declared himself a candidate.

"It's a rugged fight. This is not unusual. We already have seen bloodletting. There'll be some more blood spilled before it's over.

"In 1960, President Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson said things far worse about each other than what has been said to this point, and they got together.

"I want to see the Republicans have their arguments, but settle them without burning their bridges behind them."

Senate Slashes $20 Million More From Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The already heavily cut foreign aid authorization bill has been sliced again. This time it's a $20 million nick.

By a 51-41 count Wednesday the Senate voted to cut supporting assistance for defense pact allies from $400 million to $380 million. This brought cuts on the Senate floor to $480 million.

Another $327,250,000 was chopped off by the Foreign Relations Committee before the measure reached the floor nearly three weeks ago.

At $3,722,365,000, the aid ceiling for the current fiscal year is now $807,250,000 below President Kennedy's original request.

Prince Charles 15 Today

ELGIN, Scotland (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, spent part of his 15th birthday today on a train returning to his school. Then he went right to his classes.

"Nothing special has been laid on to mark the prince's birthday," a spokesman for the Gordonstoun school said.

Charles had an informal luncheon Wednesday at Buckingham Palace with his parents, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

Flu Shots Do Little Good, Is Doctor's Report

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Flu shots widely used in the past few years apparently have done little good, several doctors told the American Public Health Association Wednesday.

Dr. Alexander Langmuir of the communicable disease center in Atlanta said a better vaccine is needed before general use could be justified in cost to the public.

He and other experts said the virus causing flu is unpredictable and easily altered. In effect, it stays slightly ahead of the vaccine makers. The least change in the virus means the vaccine won't work well.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry added the Public Health Service still recommends the shots for older people and those with chronic illness. These, he said, are the ones hardest hit by outbreaks such as the one last year which was responsible for 50,000 more deaths than originally predicted.

Mme. Nhu Joins Children in Rome

ROME (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu arrived today from Los Angeles to rejoin her three younger children and to start a new life for her revolt-shattered family.

The former First Lady of South Viet Nam seeemed exhausted but smiled wanly.

She was accompanied by her elder daughter, Le Thuy, 18. They had left Saigon on a world tour a month before the coup which cost the lives of her husband and her brother-in-law, President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Mrs. Nhu's three younger children were flown here a week ago through assistance of the U.S. State Department.

The younger children are two boys, Trac, 15, Quynh, 11, and a girl, Le Quyen, 4.

Blast Alarms Many, 3 Hurt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An earth-shaking chemical explosion at an Atomic Energy Commission base alarmed hundreds of people Wednesday despite swift assurances it was not a nuclear blast.

Three workmen escaped with minor injuries. They started running at the sight of a flash as they were loading 13 tons of the explosive material in a remote storage igloo.

The blast occurred at the AEC's Medina base, a secret installation 10 miles southwest of the San Antonio business district.

Official spokesmen said the chemical explosive, similar to TNT, posed no radiation threat although it presumably scattered particles of uranium far and wide. They reported the igloo also contained a mixture of fissionable U-235 and non-fissionable U-238, which may be used as a jacket for H-bomb weapons.

Police, sheriff's officers and newspaper employes relayed word from Medina officials to anxious telephone callers that uranium dust can be harmful only if a large quantity is taken internally.

Cars nevertheless massed bumper to bumper two miles from the base after the explosion. Sheriff's deputies said most of the motorists were trying to leave the area.

Windows shattered in homes and other buildings as much as 14 miles distant. A glass company manager said this damage would run into thousands of dollars.

He Escapes, Deer Killed

While driving his car west on Route 52 about a mile east of Ellenville Wednesday at 6 p. m., Thomas Grossi, 37, of Pine Bush, narrowly escaped injury when the vehicle hit a deer that leaped onto the highway. Trooper Frank Steiner of Ellenville, reported the deer was killed and the front of the car was badly damaged. Grossi was given the deer, troopers said.

Church Cancer?

SELINGROVE, Pa. (AP) — The recently re-elected president of the Luther League, Fred Berkobin, 23, of Nutley, N. J., says that adults — parents and clergy — have attempted to discourage Lutheran youth from participating in struggles for racial justice in areas of tension.

At the annual convention of the group, the youth auxiliary of the Lutheran Church in America, he said adults try to keep "young people from getting involved in situations where giving a Christian witness contains an element of physical or social danger. Such respectable cautiouness can best be defined as cancer in the church."

Hadassah Schedules Hootenanny for Youth Aliyah; Annual Fund Drive Opened Today

Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will hold a Hootenanny for Youth Aliyah at a meeting on Monday, Nov. 18, 8:30 p. m. in the social hall of Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue. Family and friends of Hadassah members are cordially invited to attend.

Appearing in behalf of Youth Aliyah are Andy Bahl, guitarist, accompanied by Mrs. Michael Weiner; Mark Johnson, Paul Kreppel and Miss Jeannine McCullough, folk singers, and Miss Enid Sippen, guitarist and folk singer. In addition, there will be a lively program of Israelli folk dancing and singing under the direction of Mrs. Kurt Wolf, with Mrs. Leonard Zimet as accompanist. The dancers include the Misses Cathy Cohen, Jane Davis, Nancy Davis, Pam Gellen, Helen Horowitz, Sandy Horowitz, Lenore Kline, Sue Landesman, Marilyn Lipton, Elizabeth London, Nancy Motzkin, Nancy Pauker, Sharon Treinkman, Hava Wolf and Ruth Wolf.

The evening of song and dance, in which everyone may participate, will feature the Youth Aliyah story, told by Mrs. Herbert Greenwald.

Mrs. Richard Kalish, Mrs. Arthur Motzkin and Mrs. Harry Feldman, Youth Aliyah chairmen, have planned this fitting climax to the Youth Aliyah drive which opened today.

The Youth movement of which Hadassah is the sole representative in the United States, is responsible for bringing more than 100,000 children into Israel. The need for rescue, healing and teaching of homeless, sick, orphaned or culturally deprived children was realized in 1934. Children of all nationalities and cultures have been given new life and a new future through this program.

Each wave of young people and children who come into Israel bring their own set of difficulties. Youth Aliyah works with children who face serious problems of integration and rehabilitation in their struggles to adjust to a new environment. Newcomers from 72 lands bring a complex variety of customs and traditions. Children from Arab lands literally had to be led out of medieval times and more recent arrivals from Eastern Europe come to Israel with no awareness of identity at all.

With a program based on work-study, Youth Aliyah strives to provide the material and spiritual care which goes into the upbringing of a child and the making of future citizens. The late Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt recognized the service of Youth Aliyah and served as honorary vice chairman of an interfaith group known as Children to Palestine. This group works through special projects to provide Arab-Jewish Scholarships; a school for science and scientific agriculture and an International Culture Center for Youth in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Arthur Landesman, president of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah at a recent board meeting of the chapter at the home of Mrs. N. Gross announced that the New and Nearly New Shop, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Bernstein and Mrs. Aaron Striefer was successful. Mrs. Samuel Levine, chairman, announced that the Donor Pledge Reception will be held on Sunday, Nov. 24, from 2-4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Stanley London. All members who have pledged or intend to pledge their donors are invited. Gold nurses caps will be arranged to pledged oversubscribers at this time, in a nurses capping ceremony. Detailed information may be obtained from Mrs. Alvin Motzkin, fund raising vice-president.

Mrs. Sidney Treinkman is in charge of reservations for a matinee bus trip to New York on Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Junior Marrieds Learn About Cancer; Discuss Agenda

Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA at its meeting last Thursday night viewed a film sponsored by the American Cancer Society and shown by John W. Hill of the Kingston Laboratory. The film presentation was followed by an informative discussion by Dr. Abraham I. Feldman. Dr. Feldman stressed the importance of regular physical examinations as well as answering fully the many questions asked by the large membership in attendance.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, president. The autumn dance for Junior Marrieds and their guests will be held Saturday, Nov. 16 beginning at 9 p. m. at Ang-Els and will include a buffet supper. Detailed information may be obtained from Mrs. Kenneth P. Pangburn or Mrs. James N. Bishopp, co-chairman. Mrs. Pangburn has also been added to the list of members who are currently participating in the Childrens' Story Hour at Kingston Library.

Mrs. Eighmey accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. John H. Ostrander who was a member of the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA representing the club. A new member will be appointed. Suggestions for renaming the club may be brought to the next meeting.

The Christmas dinner under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alfred J. Port will be held on December 5 at Judie's Restaurant at 7 p. m. with an exchange of gifts. Complete details will be announced at the next meeting.

Members were reminded that the success of the Christmas project for foster children in Welfare care requires the individual support of each member. Gifts should be brought to the next meeting if possible or to the Christmas dinner. If unable to attend at either date, contact Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner, chairman.

The Festival of Christmas Ideas takes place December 7. This is an event participated in by the entire YWCA and each Junior Married member is requested to provide one item of homemade food for the Festival, preferably with a holiday theme. The club will also sponsor a table of Chirstmas ideas with Mrs. G. Bernard Trowbridge in charge. She may be contacted for further information as to Junior Marrieds' participation in the Festival.

READY FOR THE MARCH—When the Valdosta, Ga., High School band gets tuned up for a football game or other event, so does a three-year-old. Naturally, band mascot Skip Butenschon must shape up with the rest of the musicians for his father, Frank Butenschon, is the band director. Here, Skip takes his mind off his playing for a minute for an admiring glance at a pretty majorette. (AP Wirephoto)

LEFTOVER PASTRY

Q: I invited friends to dinner last Sunday and they arrived with a large box of pastry. We had some of it for dessert but there was quite a lot of it left over. As my husband and I seldom eat dessert, I put what was left over of the pastry in a box and asked her please to take it home with her as it would only go to waste here. After they had gone my husband told me I was wrong to do what I did and said that it was very lacking in appreciation of their kindness. Will you please tell me if I committed a breach of etiquette?

A: Your husband is right. It was very lacking in appreciation of their gift and even though you were not going to eat the leftover pastry yourselves, you should have kept it and later given it to a neighbor.

When a Business Woman Marries

Q: I am a business woman and in a very short while will also be a married woman. Should I continue to call myself Miss in the office or should I change to my husband's name after I am married? Which is preferable and in better taste?

A: A woman who has established herself in business as Miss Blank seldom, if ever, changes to her husband's name after marriage and continues to call herself Miss Blank in the office and Mrs. Jones in private life.

Making Up the Bed

Q: When staying in someone's house for the night, is a guest supposed to make up the bed before leaving in the morning?

A: No, unless you are coming back that night to sleep in the same bed. Since your hostess could hardly let another person sleep in the same sheets you slept in, you would give her double work by having to take everything off the bed before making it up fresh.

Boy on Stolen Bike Accused Of Burglaries

A 15-year-old runaway Albany boy was picked up Wednesday by Patrolman Edward Walsh of New Paltz, and later accused of burglaries in the Highland and New Paltz areas, according to State Police Investigator Joseph Franke.

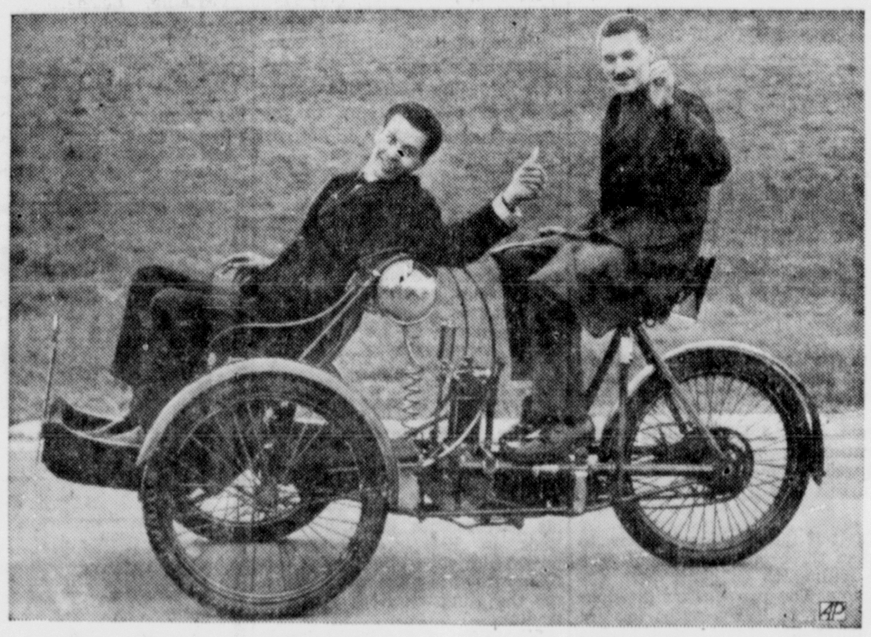

Franke said the boy was released in custody of his parents pending action in Family Court.

Patrolman Walsh had seen the boy riding a bicycle in the New Paltz area the last few days. A resident complained that someone broke into his private gagare and stole a bicycle. Walsh picked up the Albany boy yesterday afternoon, and after questioning, the boy admitted he committed burglaries at a service station in the Kingston area, Domonic Angerenes' Grocery Store on Route 44-55 at Highland, a New Paltz home and the private garage.

Investigator Franke assisted Walsh in the questioning. The boy ran away from home on Oct. 31.

He is due in city court Nov. 21.

The other cars were driven by Madeline Fitzgerald, 22, Connelly; William P. Cannon, 25, Canal Street, Port Ewen; William N. Finch, 21, of 50 Wrentham Street, and Elsie Setera, 52, of 80 Jervis Avenue.

Old Timers Select Three Players for Local Hall of Fame

Bill Russell's Rebounds Knock Off 4,300 NBA Pts.

It looks like Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics stopped about 4,300 points before the season even started.

That's the number of points that won't go on the scoreboard, if the National Basketball Association teams continue to play at their current reduced, or Russell, rate.

Defense is the word around the league, and Russell is the reason. The nine NBA teams are averaging some six points less per game this year—that's at least 4,300 over the long season.

Russell, who was feeling so badly he couldn't even get sick before the game—his normal procedure — played all 48 minutes, took 31 rebounds and blocked enough shots to ensure a 114-110 victory for the Celtics over the Lakers Wednesday night, at Madison Square Garden.

That ran the Celtic record for the season to 10-1. The Lakers held on to the top spot in the West with a 7-6 mark.

The revitalized New York Knicks sneaked into third place in the East with a 106-102 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in the second game of the Garden doubleheader.

The San Francisco Warriors, with Wilt Chamberlain collecting exactly half their points, edged the Cincinnati Royals at Cincinnati 98-92, in another of the league's new low-scoring games.

The other teams were idle.

Raiders Lose Wesson

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — Tackle Bruce Wesson will be lost to Colgate's football team for the remainder of the season because of a recurring head injury, coach Hal Lahar said Wednesday.

Wesson missed the first two games of the season and sat out last week's contest with Bucknell as a result of the injury.

Lahar also said he doubted guard Bob Jaten would be ready for Saturday's game with Buffalo. Jaten has a leg injury.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

Page 40 of the New York State Public High School Assn. 1963-64 handbook gives the game standards for high school basketball. Under the heading of approved basketball officials, the first requirement is that they pass the National Federation Examination, Part II, each year.

Since the dispute between the Hudson Valley Board of Approved Basketball Officials and schools in the Dutchess County Scholastic league seems farther away from a solution than ever, we feel there are several questions which have not been answered, one of which pertains to the above paragraph.

A LETTER TO HAFNER

Back on Oct. 30 of this year we wrote a letter to J. Kenneth Hafner, assistant secretary, New York State Public High School Assn., Mineola. Among the questions we asked were whether or not the state, which insists that referees take and pass the test and follow the five-point program, is backing them in their salary dispute with the DCSL.

As yet, we have not received an answer from Mr. Hafner. Therefore, we have reached several conclusions by talking to some of the officials, whom we might add, are very honest gentlemen.

WAIVER ON THE EXAM

Our information is that the state is giving that new group of officials hired by the DCSL a waiver on this year's examination. If this is the case, we think the state is biting off more than it can chew. If these new officials are getting this preferential treatment, why not the officials who are complying with what the state dictates?

We are using the word "dictate" for a reason. The DCSL has been claiming all along that the referees have been dictating to them regarding salaries, games, etc.

NOT THE CASE

We have letters proving that the DCSL was invited to several meetings, the same as the other area leagues, for the purpose of discussing possible fee changes and also the possibility of hiring four officials a night.

Furthermore, the officials organization did not dictate the final fee. The other leagues, representing Greene, Columbia, Ulster, Dutchess and Putnam Counties, offered the fee of $16 for varsity officials and $9 for jayvee officials (with four working a night).

NO AGREEMENT

So, what happened. The DCSL felt it didn't want the fees to change, that it wanted not more than three officials a night. The bigger schools in the league were willing to go along with the price scale, which comes to $50 a game. The two smaller divisions would not go more than $44, a total of $6 less a night for not more than nine nights. In plain arithmetic, that comes to $54 a year.

Therefore, DCSL moguls empowered Fritz Jordan of Arlington High to put together a list of men who are not members of the association and who can officiate basketball games.

The original list compiled by Jordan has a total of 53 names. We happen to believe that less than half of these original names are left on the list.

What is making the DCSL's case ever harder to digest is the fact that some schools have hired the approved officials for non-league games, at the prescribed rate.

If the DCSL doesn't want to pay the price for its league contests, why is it paying the members of the association the price for non-league games? Is it because there aren't enough of the new group of officials around to handle all the games?

GONE FAR ENOUGH

We feel that the DCSL has gone far enough in trying to make a case out of nothing. The officials went about asking for their change in the right way. The league has been wrong and will continue to be that way by trying to form another organization.

Who is going to lose by all of this squabbling? Nobody but the boys who play the game. We feel the coaches are leaning towards the officials point of view. But, in the DCSL, the coaches or athletic directors don't make the decisions on sports policy. School officials have the final say. We think they made a big and costly mistake this time.

Old Timers Baseball Association has selected three former area stars — one an ex-major league pitcher — for induction into the local baseball Hall of Fame on Thursday, Dec. 5, at the Elks Lodge.

The trio includes William (Bill) Lohrman of New Paltz; Lester Lawrence of Olive Bridge and William R. McAuliffe of Kingston.

Lohrman, currently employed as plant protection department manager at Kingston IBM, completed his career with the wartime Kingston Recreations, after a 9-year pitching stint in the major leagues.

McAuliffe, an assistant engineer with the New York State Highway Department, was a pitcher with the original Kingston Colonials under the late Lou Brown and Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick.

Lawrence, a contractor, earned his fame as a long time player and manager of teams in the Olive Bridge area.

With Five Teams

Lohrman, a right hand pitcher, wore the uniform of five National League Clubs, starting in 1934 with the Philadelphia Phillies. He also worked for the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers and wound up his career with the Cincinnati Reds in 1944. Arm trouble forced him out of the majors but he managed to pitch two seasons for the Kingston Recs at Dietz stadium.

McAuliffe, a slim right hander with a live fast ball and sensational curve, was a member of the original Colonial cast. His work attracted the attention of New York Giant scouts of Manager John J. McGraw and he went to spring training with the Giants. He developed arm trouble and although assigned to Chattanooga of the Southern Association he had to forego an organized baseball career. He also pitched for the great Tannersville club.

John J. McCardle, president of the Old Timers Association said the Hall of Fame dinner, as usual, is open to the public. The ticket sale is now under way and reservations will be limited to 200.

Honor KHS Player

In addition to installing the trio, the OTBA will present the annual Kingston High School Senior Player of the Year trophy to the 1963 senior selected by the KHS baseball coaching staff.

Members of the Hall of Fame are selected by a secret ballot by the OTBA's Hall of Fame Selections Committee which is headed by McCardle as chairman.

Other members of the committee are: Charles J. Tiano, Thomas M. Davitt, Preston Knight, Carl (Dutch) Glaser, Paul Joyce, Joe Hoffman, William R. Scully and James (Babe) Volker.

No Day Dreaming

SPEARMAN, Tex. (AP)—The first windowless high school building in the state of Texas was dedicated here recently. The $1 million building covering 75,000 feet of floor space is divided into three units with the latest in air-conditioning and lighting facilities.

Should electric power be disrupted, an emergency unit provides power for the entire building. Classrooms and laboratories are grouped together for maximum efficiency.

Fencepost Chewer

PIERRE, S. D. (AP) — The Highway Department would like this question answered: What's small, burrows in the ground and craves salt? Something answering that description has been chewing off fenceposts along a new interstate highway project.

Turkey Tickets On Sale, Nov. 20

Tickets for the annual Thanksgiving Day football between Newburgh and Kingston, scheduled this year at Dietz stadium, will go on sale starting Wednesday, Nov. 20.

They may be purchased in Home Room 108 during the ninth period or in the cafeteria during lunch hour.

The game will be played at 11 a. m. on Thanksgiving Day.

Big Red Looks for Air Game With Dartmouth

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The Cornell University football team expects Dartmouth to take to the air in Saturday's encounter at Hanover, N.H.

The Big Red stressed pass defense in Wednesday's drills.

Versatile quarterback Gary Wood is expected to see plenty of action on defense against the Indians. Wood has sparked Cornell's offense in past weeks.

Fullback Joe Robinson was moved up to the first unit on the strength of his performance last week against Brown. Robinson replaces senior Bob Milne.

At Jaycees Banquet

Morrison Rates Tittle Among All-Time QB's

"The next five games on our schedule are a big challenge, not only to myself but the entire Giant team," Joe Morrison told a packed house of more than 300 at last night's banquet honoring the championship Saugerties High School football team.

Morrison also predicted the Giants would defeat the Green Bay Packers if they meet for the NFL championship.

The annual event sponsored by the Saugerties Jaycees was held at the Flamingo Restaurant. Morrison, an all-round player with the Giants, was the guest speaker and he proved to be popular with the crowd.

He labeled Y. A. Tittle of the Giants one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of the game. "We don't know where our club would be without him," Morrison declared.

Morrison answered several questions asked by the audience, among those of which he stated he would rather play fullback or flanker if he had a choice and he hopes if the Giants win the Eastern division title, they get to play Green Bay in the title game.

Richie Giannotti, the great Saugerties halfback, was awarded a trophy for being the Most Valuable Player on the club. Paul Buytkins was voted the outstanding back; tackle Chuck Schirmer the outstanding interior lineman and end Mike Brady the outstanding exterior lineman. The presentations were made by Ben Rinaldi of the Saugerties Post.

Coach Fred Seither, who has guided the club to 24 of the 31 consecutive victories introduced the players, who received mementos from the Jaycees.

David Cunningham, principal of Saugerties High, gave the Invocation.

Among those introduced were Supervisor Pete Williams, assistant coaches John (Bud) Smith, Jeff Smythe and Pete Kramer and Dexter Arnold, superintendent of schools.

Andy Robustelli Predicts End of Playing Career

NEW YORK (AP)—Defensive end Andy Robustelli has played 103 consecutive games for the New York Giants. His target is 109—and then retirement.

Robustelli, a six-time all-National Football League selection with the Los Angeles Rams and Giants, said Wednesday that "I'm probably going to quit at the end of the season. It's about time. I'm getting older, and I can't go on forever."

Robustelli is 36 and a 13-year pro vet. He has never missed a game for the Giants and hopes to stretch the string through the five remaining regular season games—and hopefully into the NFL championship games. The Giants currently are tied for the Eastern Conference lead with Cleveland.

Robustelli, who doubles as the Giants' defensive coach, said his decision was neither firm nor final, but "right now I don't feel like I'm going to play another season."

Robustelli's retirement as a player would create a big hole for the Giants' to fill. Robustelli's replacement is Bob Taylor, a rookie from Maryland State.

Robustelli said he would like to remain active as a coach. He didn't say anything about any head coaching job, but he would probably have to be considered a prime candidate if such a position opened up at the end of the season.

Robustelli began his pro career with the Rams in 1951. Five years later, reluctant to be so far from his family in Stamford, Conn., he threatened to retire. The Rams then shipped him to the Giants.

NEW YORK (AP)—In case of a tie or several ties for first place in the two divisions of the National Football League, the sites and opponents will be decided by flips of a coin.

Jim Kensil, public relations director of the NFL, said Wednesday that all teams with a mathematical chance for a division title would meet at Commissioner Pete Rozelle's office in New York. This conference usually is held in the last week in November.

Ski Directory Issued by State Commerce Dept.

A directory of ski centers in New York State has been issued by the New York State Department of Commerce.

This year's edition of the annual publication, Ski New York, lists 81 center, 5 more than last year. With the increased popularity of the sport, ski centers have spread to all parts of the state and there is now one or more within an hour's drive of any community in the state.

Centers listed in the guide are those of interest to the general public. Developments operated by clubs for their members, or by resorts for the exclusive use of their guests, are not included nor are those of local interest. If all types of ski centers are counted, there are now well over a hundred in operation in New York State, the Commerce Department estimates.

Information presented in the guide includes the slopes and trails available, the type of lifts, times of operation and daily fees. Illustrations are color photographs.

Red Cross Gives Safety Advice To Area Skiers

The Ulster County Red Cross has sounded four "Be" notes of safety for those who are skiing this season. They include:

Be in good physical condition; be aware of your limitations; be careful where you ski, and, be first aid-trained.

"All these will add tone to your skiing," said Daniel H. Morehouse, the chapter's first aid chairman, "and will give you a full measure of enjoyment of one of winter's most exhilarating sports."

Good physical conditioning, available at all times, is a special must for skiers, according to Morehouse.

The first aid chairman also emphasized that skiers should know the area as well as know their own ability. "Find out about tricky spots and beware of cliffs, the threat of avalanches, and sometimes hidden hazards as stumps, rocks and ravines," he said.

He advises to select areas under the skilled guardianship of the National Ski Patrol, whose members are capable Red Cross trained first aiders. All have been required to pass the American Red Cross advanced first aid course.

"Take a Red Cross first aid course yourself," Morehouse adds.

Leaf Goalie 'Blew' Tie Game, Coach Says

Punch Imlach pointed his finger at goalie Johnny Bower.

"He blew it," said the irate coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs after the Leafs had played a 2-2 tie with the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League Wednesday night.

Imlach put the rap on Bower because the Canadiens scored both their goals in the second period even though one of their players was in the penalty box at the time.

The first-place Chicago Black Hawks piled up a 4-0 lead then staved off a late Boston rally to beat the Bruins 6-4 in Wednesday's other scheduled NHL game.

KBA Makes Award

ABC Council Goes to Sangi's

The Kingston Bowling Association's executive committee has voted to award the 1964 tournament of the Northeastern Council of A.B.C. Bowling Associations to Sangi's Bowlero.

Kingston will host the Northeastern Council which is composed of 47 A.B.C. city associations in New England and Southeastern New York. At the Council meeting held Oct. 20 at the Governor Clinton hotel, it was voted to schedule the tournament here on June 21, 1964.

The "tournament of tournament champions" is extended to all association net winners in the team event, as well as singles and doubles in the 47-member council. The net winners of the 27th annual KBA tournament scheduled next February will earn the honor of representing the local association.

William Mohr was appointed by KBA president Philip Battaglia as tournament manager. Mohr has been KBA tournament manager the past two years.

Suspend Bowlers

The association also announced the indefinite suspension of two local bowlers—Tony Amato and Philip McCloskey—for failure to pay bowling fees on a regularly assigned team in the Mid-City Summer Mixed League. Both suspensions are effective for the balance of the current season and beyond that period as long as their league is not reimbursed for the back dues.

Battaglia announced that a revised KBA constitution to meet the requirements of the ABC will be prepared for approval by the executive committee for presentation to the board of directors at the next annual meeting.

One of the numerous alternatives the ABC's new mandatory constitution offers is the option of individual sanctioned bowler membership in place of the team-sanctioned membership currently in effect locally. Recent figures released by ABC headquarters show individual memberships gaining over the team sanction plan.

Seek Expressions

The executive committee invites expressions of opinion by the rank and file bowlers to guide them in making a decision on which plan to propose for the 1964-65 season. Under the individual membership plan, each bowler within the association shall complete an application and pay dues for a membership card. bowler to participate on any number of teams within the association without paying additional dues. Under the team plan, a regular bowler or his sponsor is paying dues for each team on which he participates. The executive committee feels the individual membership plan is a distinct advantage to the bowler participating in more than one league.

Tournament Dates

Addison Jones, local director of the New York State Bowling Association, announced that Kingston has been assigned lanes for 20 teams for the 1964 state tournament at Elmira.

The schedule permits six team entries at 5 p. m. and four entries at 10 p. m. on May 9. Reservations are available for 10 teams on May 16. The minor events will be bowled on Sunday of both weekends.

Five teams have requested application blanks from Jones to date. The deadline for filing entries will be January 18 with Jones.

Bullets Fined $5,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets got a cut in their moving bill, but it still cost them $5,000 to get out of Chicago.

The Board of Governors of the National Basketball Association reduced a $25,000 fine against the Bullets to $5,000 at its meeting Wednesday.

The fine was slapped on the team because it made arrangements to move out of Chicago without getting league permission, and in violation of an agreement to stay in Chicago for three years.

The Yogi Feels Like a Rookie; 'Cant Wait' for '64 Start

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra confesses he feels like a rookie all over again as he waits — with understandable impatience — for the 1964 spring training season to open.

"I can't wait for it to start," said the new manager of the New York Yankees. "I keep thinking about it all the time. I get butterflies in my stomach just thinking about it. I don't like having so much time to think about it. When you're in action, you don't have time to worry."

Slight Red in Cheeks

Did Yogi mean he was a little scared at the thought of managing what through the years has been the most powerful club in baseball? The word "scared" brought a slight reddening to Yogi's cheeks.

"Scared?" he repeated. "If I was scared do you think I would have taken a one-year contract? I coulda had two years but I turned it down."

Did he have any doubts about his ability to manage?

"I think I can manage but of course I've got to prove it not only to myself but to others," he replied.

Berra made his first official move as Yankee manager Tuesday when he announced the signing of Jimmy Gleeson as first base coach. Gleeson, a major league outfielder some 20 years ago, was Yogi's baseball coach in the Navy.

Pitching Should Improve

Turning to the team and its needs for 1964, Berra said he felt the Yankees were strong enough to win the American League pennant without any changes in personnel.

"We're strong every place," he said. "The pitching should be better because of the year's experience gained by the younger fellows. We've got a good bench, too.

"We can use another outfielder and a catcher. I'm gonna give Jake Gibbs a shot at the second or third-string catching job. And I want to look at this kid Jimenez (rookie outfielder Elvio Jimenez, brother of Kansas City outfielder Manny Jimenez)."

Her Sixth Sense

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Earl D. Davis has acquired a lot of confidence in his wife's intuition. He left his billfold in his trouser pocket before retiring. The billfold contained considerable cash from a business sale made after the bank had closed.

When he awoke the following morning the billfold was gone. But the money was safe. Davis' wife had gotten worried and taken the money out of the billfold to hide it in a safe place. The thief just got an empty wallet.

No Post Season Games

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Northern Illinois University, winner of its nine football games this season, won't be able to compete in the NAIA championship playoffs.

The NAIA said the Illinois State Teachers College board of control and the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference had put a ban on football competition after the Thanksgiving weekend.

Still Murky Situation

Cambodia's Pledge to Peking Could Hit U. S. Hard if Kept

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy hardly had the words out of his mouth when there was more trouble, this time of a kind which may in time be a disaster for the United States.

In his first State of the Union message to Congress almost three years ago Kennedy, after listing the problems ahead at home, said "all these pale when placed beside those which confront us around the world...

"Each day the crises multiply. Each day their solution grows more difficult."

He cited trouble spots in Asia, Africa, Latin America. And as the years passed the troubles multiplied and waned while fresh ones developed.

Disputes Spread

Last Friday, talking to the Protestant Council in New York, he said the family of man should be at peace with one another. But he said:

"They are not. Within the last month the world has witnessed active or threatened hostilities in a dozen or more disputes independent of the struggle between communism and free choice — disputes between Africans and Europeans in Angola, between North African neighbors in the Maghreb, between two Arab states over Yemen, between India and Pakistan, between Indonesia and Malaysia, Cambodia and Viet Nam, Ethiopia and Somalia and a long list of others."

He might have mentioned that just one week before, the generals in South Viet Nam threw out President Diem and his brother, both of whom were killed. But last Friday he couldn't have known what was to happen Wednesday.

Grave News Comes

Early in the day the Iraqi government had to smash a revolution and later in the day came the news of grave consequence to the United States that Cambodia may turn its back on the United States.

Worse, still, it may throw in its lot with Red China. Cambodi in the southeastern tip of Asia, lies partly against Thailand, partly against South Viet Nam.

It has 6 million people living under the guidance of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, 43, who renounced the Cambodian throne to be the political leader of the Cambodians.

Took From Both Sides

He has been a self-proclaimed neutral betweeen the forces of the West and communism, but accepted help from both sides. For instance: guns and fighter planes from Russia, more than $366 million worth of military and economic help from the United States.

This could be interpreted as trying to play both ends against the middle, not taking sides until he saw which way the cat was going to jump.

For the United States, holding South Viet Nam has been a prolonged and costly adventure, with more than $4 billion in aid going to Viet Nam where more than 100 Americans have lost their lives in the war against the Communist guerrillas of North Viet Nam.

If Viet Nam was lost to communism, it's a safe bet all Southeast Asia would be in time. Last September Prince Sihanouk said he was convinced the Communists already have won the battle for South Viet Nam.

And he said he felt his own neutral country eventually would fall to communism. Last August SIhanouk cut Cambodia's ties with Viet Nam because of the crackdown on the Buddhists by the then President Diem.

Threatens to Cut Ties

And he has complained that Cambodian exiles—his enemies—were in Viet Nam making broadcasts against him with transmitters which, he said, were supported in part by U.S. assistance.

Wednesday he sent out the word Cambodia would cut its ties with the United States, too, and after Jan. 1, 1964, refuse any more American aid, and abandon its neutrality unless the anti - Sihanouk broadcasts were stopped.

No Final Step Yet

The State Department was upset. Worse news was to come. Later Wednesday Red China said Sihanouk had sent word to Peking, pledging close friendship and cooperation.

If the Red Chinese, with Sihanouk's blessing, move into Cambodia the very thing this country tried most to prevent—Red China's direct influence in Southeast Asia — would have come about.

This is still a murky situation. Sihanouk may not take the final step of fully abandoning his neutrality and throwing open the Cambodian doors to Red China.

But the way he's playing the game it's like sticking his hand into the tiger's mouth to stroke his tongue.

Ask Action on Traffic

Traffic conditions on Albany Avenue Extension along Route 9-W to the Route 199 entrance to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge were discussed. After a lengthy discussion of the traffic patterns in that area a resolution was passed asking the State Department of Public Works and the State Traffic Commission to make a comprehensive survey and then meet with the town board to discuss their findings.

A resolution was passed for the installation of new street lights at the intersection of East Chester Street By-pass and Sunrise Park; at Sawkill Road and Route 28; County Road and Cutler Hill in Eddyville and a fourth light on Route 9-W in the Albany Avenue lighting district near the Costello Motor Court.

State University

designed to boost its capacity from 78,000 students to 160,000 by 1970.

The state is borrowing money to finance the expansion and will use income from tuition to help pay off the loans. Operating expenses, however, must be met directly from tax revenues.

Select Drug Jury

Selection of a jury to hear testimony in the case of The People vs. Larnel Barber, was begun this morning in County Court before Judge Raymond J. Mino. Barber is charged with unlawfully selling a narcotic drug and unlawfully possessing a narcotic drug. It is alleged he sold marijuana to an undercover agent, who was investigating the sale of narcotics. Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt appears for the prosecution and Joseph Avis for the defendant.

Pet Dog Found, Sought After Thruway Crash

An 18-year-old beagle, that disappeared Tuesday morning after the truck in which he was riding overturned twice when it hit a 150-pound deer on the State Thruway near the Saugerties Interchange, has been found.

State Police Sergeant John Kragh of the Thruway detail, said Mrs. Lucy Personeus and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Doyle of Mt. Marion, Saugerties found the hound after learning it was the object of a search.

Sergeant Kragh was notified the dog was being cared for by the two women, and he called the animal's owner, Frank Domenick, 44, of Island Park, Nassau County, and informed him of the whereabouts of his pet. Domenick, the sergeant said, is recovering from injuries he suffered when his truck overturned after hitting and killing the deer.

Domenick told troopers he would be in this vicinity on Saturday and would pick up his dog.

Young Women's Christian Association
209 Clinton Avenue

Editor, The Freeman,

The Public Affairs Committee of the Kingston Young Women's Christian Association wishes to commend publicly the work done this year to make Halloween not only a pleasant celebration, but one with positive values. The seasonal window paintings in the uptown area not only offered opportunity for creative work by young people, but also made visits to the shopping area unusually interesting; the collections for the United Nations Children's Fund will reach far beyond our local area in supplying health needs for all the world's children. We feel these were valuable supplements to the work of the Kingston Recreation Department and the police in channeling young energies into worthwhile projects.

We hope such efforts in the future will reduce further the destructive episodes still encountered.

On our committee are the Mmes. Gerard Hawkins, Milton Reynolds and Donald Snell and the Misses Mary Staples, Louise Luther and Kathryn Heavey.

Very truly yours
KATHRYN L. HEAVEY
Chairman

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed away from some initial gains and worked irregularly lower early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

Most key stocks showed minor gains or losses and a good many were little changed.

There was no clear-cut group leadership to the upside. Oils continued to go slightly lower.

The trend was to the downside among steels, motors, tobaccos, farm implements and chemicals despite gains of individual stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 280.7 with industrials off .4, rails off .1 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.83 at 748.28.

CBS spurted 4 points at the start on overnight news of a 2-for-1 stock split, higher cash dividends and a 3 per cent stock dividend. The gain was cut to about 3 in later dealings.

Xerox touched another high and held a gain of about 5 following news it plans to expand into Latin America. International Telephone advanced about a point after reporting higher profits.

Chrysler sank more than 2 points. American Motors dropped about 2. General Motors lost a full point. Ford gained a fraction.

General Precision lost more than a point in further reaction to news that merger talks with Magnavox had been terminated. Magnavox gained nearly a point in a continued rise.

Korvette rose more than a point, Bulova and General Instrument fractions.

Heavily traded fractional gainers included Martin-Marietta and General Telephone & Electronics.

Five Libraries Of Area Receive Grants of $1,000

Ramapo Catskill Library System announced today that grants of $1,000 each have been awarded to five public libraries by the system.

Libraries receiving grants are Pearl River, Finkelstein Memorial Library, Spring Valley, Suffern Free Library in Rockland County, Monroe Free Library in Orange County.

Decision was based on the library's previous development and plans for the future in terms of strengthening reference services for residents of the area. In most cases the money will be used to purchase reference books although it may be used for equipment or other library needs. Each library had to meet criteria of budget, geographical accessibility, staff, hours of opening and program.

The professional staff of the Ramapo Catskill Library System will be available to assist these libraries in decisions for expenditure.

The Board of Trustees of Ramapo Catskill Library System has been concerned over the increasing impact of reference work in public libraries throughout its four-county area including Orange, Sullivan, Rockland and part of Ulster.

Newburgh Free Library has been providing centralized reference service for the system since the establishment of the latter in 1959. Thrall Library also provides such service. This does not eliminate the need for strengthening local library collections and services as demand increases. The reference grants were awarded for this purpose.

Ups-and-Downs Fire

Firemen were called Wednesday night to check another blaze on the Ups-and-Downs off West Chestnut Street, which by this time should have little left to burn. During this month and in October several fire calls a week have been reported. A unit from Cornell Station responded to the call at 6:31 p. m. yesterday.

Must Be Reconstructed

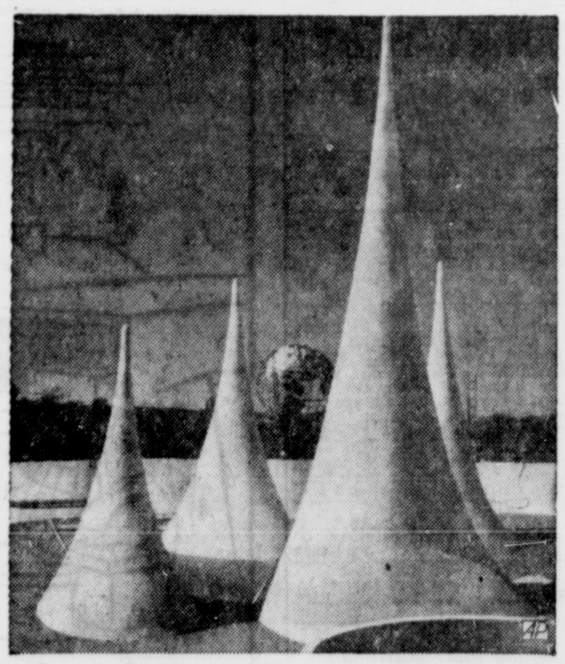

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police have tracked down—piece-by-piece—the car stolen from Robert W. Bennett.

They said they found parts (a) installed in another car, (b) in a basement, (c) in a service station and (d) in a vacant lot.

"The biggest single piece we can find is the hood," an awed detective commented.

Enameling Unfinished Wood

It is not necessary to bleach, stain or fill if an enamel is to be applied to an unfinished piece of wood furniture, advises the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. The surface shcuid be sanded smooth, however. Simply brush on a prime coat of enamel undercoat, then finish up with one or two coats of enamel in the color desired.

Razor Blade Shares Feel Stainless Impact

Q) "My son is fourteen, and I would like your advice as to long-term investment for his future. From gifts he received, I bought him Tennessee Gas, Corn Products, American Natural Gas, Gillette. Should he continue to hold Gillette? Also, should he buy at this time Reynolds Tobacco and American Hospital Supply?" — B. S.

A) I should like to commend you, if I may, for being so foresighted a father.

Gillette is a very ably managed company and a highly effective merchandiser. However, the company for the first time in my recollection is facing serious competition in the blade business. This has come about through the sudden shift, in consumer preference, to stainless steel blades. Eversharp was the first American company to produce these blades and obviously is going to make a tough fight for a big share of the market.

Growth in Gillette may slow down for a while, and for your particular purpose, I believe I would switch to American Express.

Both Reynolds Tobacco and AHS appear satisfactory for your objective.

Q) "I am a widow with a house — no mortgage — and $20,000 in the savings bank. I'd like to invest $10,000 in growth stocks and $5,000 in preferred stock. Could you recommend such securities to Me? Also, do you think it might be a good idea for me to get a part-time job?" — S. G.

A) Growth stocks yield very little. If you go through with your program, it seems to me that you may have to take a part-time job to eke out your dividend income.

In the growth field, I suggest Consolidate Foods, Consumers Power, Merck & Company and Sears, Roebuck.

Preferred stocks are fixed as to income and are priced almost entirely on money rates. If rates move higher, as seems possible, preferreds will move down in price.

I advise you to place $10,000 in growth stocks as a protection against inflation — and leave the balance in your savings bank.

Library to Have Permanent Home; Purchase Is Made

PHOENICIA — The Phoenicia Library has completed arrangements for permanent quarters of its own.

At the annual fund raising dinner dance Saturday night at Al's Seafood Restaurant, it was announced that arrangements had been made that day to purchase the Breithaupt property on Main Street. The building is reported ideal for library purposes and will provide room for expansion of facilities.

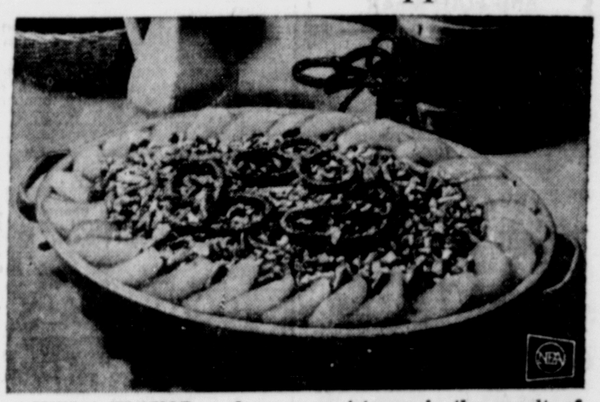

Walter and Jessie Baetz of Shandaken were the donors of a substantial grant which made the purchase possible according to announcement made by William Landesman, chairman of the library building committee.

The dance was reported to be a social and financial success. Harry Allen was master of ceremonies. President of the library board is Renwick Dibbell.

World's largest full-fashioned cashmere knitting plant is located in Cleveland, Ohio.

Pretzels Put Crunch in Apple Crunch

LIVELY FLAVOR and new consistency is the result of using pretzels in baked apple crunch.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Everyone likes pretzels. But did you ever use them with apples, now so plentiful, in a baked apple cruch? Try it. It's fun.

BAKED APPLE CRUNCH
(Serves 6 or more)

- 1½ pound cooking apples
- 1½ cups light brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind
- 2 cups coarsely crushed pretzels (about 3 dozen twisted regulor or thin
- ½ cup melted unsalted butter or margarine

Wash, peel, core and slice apples to measure six cups. Place in large shallow casserole (1½ to 2 quarts). Blend 1 cup sugar with cinnamon and grated rind; sprinkle over apples. Combine pretzel crumbs with remaining ½ cup sugar and melted butter; blend well. Sprinkle evenly on top of apples. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven for about 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve either hot or well chilled, with or without cream or milk in separate dish.

The "salty balls" are a stunt. We used an old recipe from friends in Pottsville, Pa., and adapted it to pretzels instead of salt - taffy - chocolate candy. Pretty good, we think.

SALTY BALLS
(About 10 balls)

Place 3 dozen twisted thin pretzels between waxed paper or in plastic bag; crush with rolling pin into coarse crumbs, the size of finely chopped nuts. Meanwhile melt ½ lb. semisweet chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter over hot water; add 2 tablespoons honey and blend. Add pretzel crumbs and mix well. Cool slightly. Using two metal teaspoons (dippped in cold water) form mixture into balls; drop piece by piece on waxed paper; cool until firm.

UN History, Arms Slash LWV Topic

During a recent general meeting of the League of Women Voters of Kingston the United Nations Study Group of the League presented a program discussing the history of disarmament and the UN.

An original skit, written by Mrs. William Askue, presented the differences of opinions between the USSR and U.S.A., but ended on a hopeful note in view of the recent limited test ban treaty and the installation of the "hot line." The question before the league members was "Should the league continue to work for disarmament within the framework of the UN?" The Kingston League decided in the affirmative. A consensus of the opinions presented is being sent to the National League to help in forming a National League stand on the issue.

The league has consistently supported the UN and advocated a foreign policy based on support for the UN by the United States. The league supports an adequate budget, improved procedures, provisions for keeping the peace, and the organization also advocated increased use of the UN.

Presenting the UN Program were Mrs. Jacob Moss, chairman of the UN Study Group; Mrs. Morton Kamens, Mrs. John Darcy, Mrs. William Askue and Mrs. Leroy Janes.

Mrs. John Worley, vice president of the league, presented suggestions for the national league program for which the Kingston League will make recommendations at the national convention, April 1964 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Under discussion were problems of Agriculture, Congressional Reform, World Population, Arms Control, Domestic Economy, Election Laws, Federal-State Powers and Consumer Protection.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow flurries and occasional rain dampened much of the Northeast today, although amounts were considerably less than Wednesday.

Precipitation was concentrated around the southern shores of the Great Lakes, in the Ohio Valley and in scattered areas of New York State and New England.

Extensive cloudy cover also was reported over much of the Northwest with light rains falling from northern California into Washington.

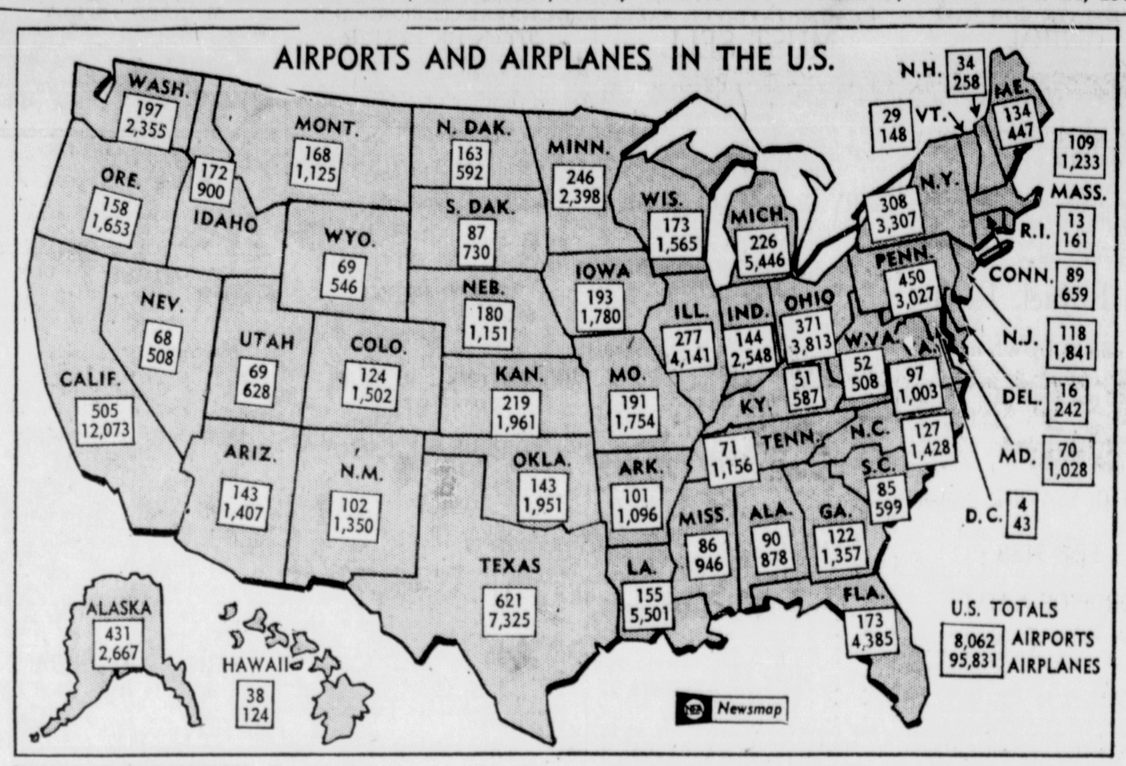

Most of the central area and all of the Southeast had clear to partly cloudy weather.

Dutchess Man Is New Manager of IBM Department

The promotion of Stephen C. Nicholson of Wappingers Falls to manager of the newly-organized program test department in IBM's data Processing Division at Kingston has been announced by L. E. Clark, DP vice president.

The new department will be responsible for testing type II programs which are developed by the division to augment type I programs furnished by the product divisions. The purpose of these programs is to speed the use of IBM products in specific marketing and systems engineering techniques areas.

Nicholson joined IBM in December, 1951 as a mathematician programmer at the Watson Scientific Computing Laboratory in New York City. He held several positions in IBM New York Offices before being promoted to manager of IBM 705/7080 programming systems at New York in 1959. The following year, he was named manager of IBM 1410/7070/7080 compiling systems.

In 1962, Nicholson was promoted to manager of Data Systems Division programming systems development at Poughkeepsie and was named manager of evaluation technology one year later, a post he has held until his present promotion.

He received a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from Queens College.

Nicholson and family reside on 5 Carmine Drive, Wappingers Falls.

I would like to thank the many friends of both mine and my late husband's — our daughters, our neighbors — the community — the Democratic Club, its workers, the Committeemen and, with the very deepest affection to Samsonville, may I say I am grateful and proud.

I also want to thank Mrs. D. Adsit for her phone call to assure me of her help. Her sportsmanship rates 100%.

Two Locked in Furious Flames

Buzzards Bay Fiery Scene After Two Ships Collide

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (AP) —A Norwegian freighter and a coastal tanker collided in early morning haze today 10 miles off the southern entrance of Cape Cod Canal and were locked together in furious flames.

The Coast Guard said fire was raging aboard the tanker Dynafuel, 3,100 tons, as she was joined to the 6,732-ton freighter Fernview.

Crew Transferred

The Fernview's fire apparently was brought under control, and the 15 to 20-man crew of Dynafuel was transferred to the Fernview as the blazing tanker settled in the water.

The Coast Guard cutter General Greene moved perilously close to the fire-swept tanker in efforts to separate the two vessels.

One seaman, unidentified, was reported to have suffered a leg injury. He was taken off the Fernview on a small boat and was flown by helicopter to Otis Air Force Base.

The Dynafuel was proceeding in ballast from Newington, N.H., to Newark, N.J. She had discharged a partial cargo at Sun Oil storage depot in Revere Tuesday and then proceeded to Newington.

Most From Philly

Most of her crewmen were believed to be from the Philadelphia area.

The Fernview was en route to Boston with general cargo from Japan and the Philippines after a stop in New York. Her Boston agents are Peabody & Lane Co.

The Coast Guard reported the Fernview is owned by Glittre & Marina.

A newsman from Providence radio station WPRO flew over the area and reported the bow of the freighter apparently collided with the stern of the tanker.

He said thick black smoke drifted in the hazy atmosphere as the General Greeene and another cutter, the LeGare, moved in on the fiery scene.
